SUPERSHOW CLOWNS Bim and Bom broke up small fry and adults alike today when cast of dancers, mime artists, puppeteers and musicians gave first performance in tent pitched on Inner Harbor. The travelling troupe is sponsored locally by the city of Victoria and the B.C. Cultural Services program. Kaleidoscope Theatre is host to group, which will travel across Canada.

80% Canadian Rule Ordered by CRTC

Times News Services

OTTAWA — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has been told it must devote much more of its prime time to Canadian content.

The Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) Monday approved the CBC's television licence for the next 42 months, but imposed such strict content conditions that it would be forced to drop such popular American programs as *Happy Days, M*A*S*H, All in the Family, Mary Tyler Moore* and The Paper Chase.

The CTRC wants the CBC's Canadian programming raised to 80 per cent of prime television broadcast time during weekday evening hours.

Canadian content regulations now require the CBC to devote 60 per cent of its prime time programming, between 8 p.m and 11 p.m., to Canadian content. "We know they are doing about 70 per cent but we want them to do better than that . . . possibly 80 per cent," CRTC Chairman Pierre Camu said Monday.

"There are enough stations showing light American programs and the CBC should be showing something different. Even though I didn't say it in the report, I would like the CBC to become something like the PBS station in the United States," Camu said.

"The CBC has the right to appeal this decision and I expect in the next few weeks we will be sitting down with them and working things out," Camu said.

CBC president Al Johnson was not available for comment.

The CRTC also made it a condition of licence renewal that CBC-TV carry no commercials in programs directed specifically to children under the age of 13.

And it ruled out all commercials on CBC English and French radio networks, except those it is required by Parliament to carry at election time or those that come on programs, like the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts, which are not available any other way.

CBC radio stations in communities not served by private broadcasters have been carrying local commercials. The CRTC said the CBC must stop this.

The renewing of the English and French TV network licences only until Sept. 10, 1982, instead of the accustomed five years, will force an early review of the CBC's progress in fulfilling the terms of its decision.

The CBC's radio network licences were renewed to March 31, 1984.

The CRTC said the CBC International Service, and its Northern Service, should be separately subsidized by Parliament, and the French network should "devote more attention to the flow and exchange of cultural and regional information to provide a continuing expression of Canadian identity."

"We think CBC radio is doing a good job and we want CBC televison to do the same thing," he said.

Camu said he was prepared to let "finely produced foreign programs" still be shown but only if they were "great specials and very beautiful — something like ballets or symphonies."

Island Mill Offers Hope Of 200 Jobs

Island Shake and Shingle Co. Ltd. of Lake Cowichan has announced plans to build a $5 million saw and planer mill which will provide about 200 new jobs.

Company president Bert Rodenbush said today work on the mill at nearby Beaver Lake will begin next month and the start-up date is set for January, 1980.

The site is about 1.5 kilometres from the company's existing shingle and shake mill.

Rodenbush said the company decided to expand in order to add lumber to their sales as well as to make better use of the available timber.

Ex-SC Loffmark Backs the NDP

VANCOUVER — Former Socred cabinet minister Ralph Loffmark made it official today — he's now a full-blown booster of both Dave Barrett and the NDP.

He said however, that while he's willing to endorse the party and Barrett, he doesn't intend to sign up and has not been offered any deals or a job. Other provincial campaign stories pages 21 and 25.

Loffmark recently surfaced in television ads critical of the Socred government's lack of aid to small business in the province.

At a press conference in the Hotel Vancouver, the former trade and commerce and later health minister under W.A.C. Bennett gave four reasons for his dramatic switch in loyalties.

The first three deal with transportation policies of the current Social Credit government under Premier Bill Bennett.

Loffmark said Bennett has mismanaged federal subsidies for northern coastal ferry services so badly that the federal government is threatening to withdraw its financial support.

Even with the federal subsidy, ferry service has deteriorated precipitously, Loffmark said.

B.C. is making no effort to continue its presence in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, instead leaving the entire north wide open for Alberta investment and exploration.

Abandoning the north is inconsistent with every premier in B.C. since 1900, he added.

And the current Socred government is completely ignoring the historically-proven need for a rail link to Alaska through B.C and the Yukon.

Loffmark said Barrett shares the dream held by W.A.C. Bennett for northern development.

The one-time Socred who is now a teacher at the University of B.C., says that in the last year he has never seen such frustration from young people in the 16 to 24 age group over the difficulty in finding jobs.

"The frustration, bitterness and disillusionment is the worst it's ever been," he said.

He says he's "distressed to the extreme" to see young people dropping out of school

Ryan Scores Stunning Victory

Times News Services

A triumphant Claude Ryan, swept into the national assembly with a convincing 9,288 votes more than his Parti Quebecois opponent in Argenteuil, has hailed his Liberal party's crushing victory in two provincial byelections as "the first phase on the road which will take us back to the leadership of the government."

Ryan challenged Premier Rene Levesque to call a general election, saying Monday's landslide Liberal wins in Argenteuil and the Quebec City riding of Jean Talon raised serious questions about the legitimacy of the current government.

He received 16,693 votes, while PQ candidate Charles Roy, who had received help in the campaign from almost every heavyweight PQ minister, got 7,405.

Strict N-Law Demanded

Times News Services

Tougher management in all areas of nuclear power in Canada has been demanded in a Science Council of Canada report.

A central regulating agency open to the public should be set up to monitor and rule on all aspects of human exposure to radiation, says the recently-released report — An Overview of the Ionizing Radiation Hazard in Canada.

Currently the Atomic Energy Control Board, known as AECB, is the licensing and regulating authority for all aspects of the nuclear industry.

John Basuk, council adviser who co-ordinated the report, says the board should not have the power to regulate the nuclear industry because it is also charged with licensing nuclear plants.

In the U.S., a study by the U.S. National Academy of Sciences was reported to have concluded that the use of nuclear energy will lead to the cancer deaths of 2,000 Americans by the end of the century.

The study, entitled Risks Associated with Nuclear Power, has yet to be made public. Its contents were detailed in Monday's editions of the New York Times.

The academy's report, based on a four-year study, challenges the U.S. nuclear industry's assertions that atomic power plants do not result in severe public health problems or deaths.

The Times said the report also concluded that "additional deaths" result from the mining of radioactive materials, their fabrication into fuel elements, the exposure of plant employees, the release of small amounts of radioactive materials into the atmosphere and the transportation, reprocessing and storage of nuclear materials.

1,414 in Running

Canadian Press

A record 1,414 candidates are contesting the 282 Commons seats at stake in the May 22 federal election compared with 1,209 in 1974, also a record.

In B.C., about 120 candidates are running for the 28 seats available.

As nominations closed Monday, political leaders were flung across the country in their quest for votes.

(Stories on the federal campaign appear on pages 40 and 41.)

New Democratic leader Ed Broadbent proposed in Regina to spend $180 million re-introducing subsidies for fluid milk, skim milk and flour used in bread production. Dropped last year by the Liberal government, he said they could save an average family $200 a year.

He also criticized a Progressive Conservative television advertisement showing Prime Minister Trudeau on trial for failing to control prices. "Whatever you may think of him, he's not a criminal," Broadbent said.

Conservative Leader Joe Clark sought Nova Scotia votes by promising in Sydney, N.S., to aid steel-making and mining on economically-depressed Cape Breton Island.

He also promised a national conference to rejunvenate the universal medical care program.

Trudeau again assailed Clark for saying he would move the Canadian embassy to Jerusalem from Tel Aviv.

He said Clark's proposal was "way off centre" and could adversely affect peace initiatives in the area.

City's Offer Spurned

City hall inside workers Monday night rejected the so-called final contract offer from the Greater Victoria Labor Relations Association by 89 per cent.

The offer, which includes a wage increase of 7.25 per cent in each year of a two-year agreement, was turned down in a secret ballot by 62 to 7.

Rick Doyle, president of Local 388 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, said the results of the vote will be communicated to the GVLRA and hopefully the city will change its position.

GVLRA chairman Brian Smith has said the city's offer is final and challenged CUPE to put the offer to its members in a secret vote. He said the union negotiators weren't expressing the wishes of the rank-and-file members.

"Obviously he was wrong," Doyle said.

Local 388, with a membership of about 300, is demanding a one-year agreement with a 14.8-per-cent wage increase.

However, despite the difference in percentages, the sides are not that far from a money settlement, Doyle said. But there is one stumbling block, what he called the Anshelm clause after GVLRA negotiator Carl Anshelm.

Anshelm is demanding the union drop a clause which gives union negotiators and those involved in arbitration hearings time off with pay. The city wants the union to make up the money lost in wages when their representatives are involved in such union matters.

Doyle said the city hall workers will not give up the clause, particularly now when nothing has been proposed in exchange.

Food Price Increases Slowing Slightly

OTTAWA (CP) — Beef, pork and coffee prices declined during April but over-all food prices for the month were still 18.3 per cent higher than a year ago, the anti-inflation board said Monday.

The board's March survey had shown food prices were going up at 21.7 per cent on a 12-month basis.

The board's April estimate of the weekly cost of feeding a family of four nutritiously was $60.17. This compares with a March weekly grocery bill of $59.64.

The food price index, set at 100 in 1974, reached 161.1 by April 20. This means it costs 61 per cent more to get through the supermarket checkout than it did five years ago.

The price of beef dropped by 3.5 per cent from the previous month. The board attributed this decline to the fact some consumers stopped buying. Pork prices dropped by 3.7 per cent from their March level and beverage prices, including soft drinks, coffee and tea, were down 0.2 per cent, continuing a trend that started several months ago.

Most of the remaining items in the AIB's food price survey continued to rise at an accelerating rate.

Poultry prices were up by 0.8 per cent, egg prices 0.4 per cent, cereal and bakery products 0.9 per cent, dairy products one per cent, fresh fruit 2.9 per cent, and fresh vegetables 0.2 per cent.

The board's basic weekly diet for a family of four cost $57.86 in St John's, Nfld., $54.56 in Charlottetown, $51.78 in Halifax, $54.23 in Saint John, N.B., $49.53 in Quebec, $50.40 in Montreal, $50.40 in Ottawa-Hull, $52.43 in Toronto, $54.68 in Winnipeg, $55.31 in Regina, $54.21 in Edmonton, $56.14 in Vancouver, $71.25 in Yellowknife and $70.23 in Whitehorse.

Meanwhile, Statistics Canada reported cost of new housing in Victoria was down 0.8 per cent in March compared to a year ago but the Canadian average price was up three per cent.

The federal agency said the cost of the average Canadian house alone increased by 2.3 per cent during the 12-month period, but land costs increased by 4.1 per cent.

House price movements varied widely among regions. The largest annual increase was recorded in Windsor, where a new residence increased in price by 17.3 per cent. Quebec City was next at 10.1 per cent, Edmonton eight per cent and Calgary 5.9 per cent.

Three other cities reporting slight decreases from a year ago were Toronto with a 1.6-per-cent drop, Kitchener 0.8 per cent and Hamilton 0.4 per cent.

Volrich Delays Spray Program

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Jack Volrich ordered Monday the delay of a controversial federal plan to spray a pesticide over the Kitsilano district of Vancouver to combat the gypsy moth.

Volrich announced the delay following a meeting with federal, provincial and city health officials. Agriculture Canada wants to spray the densely-populated area with Caberole (Sevin) to try and wipe out the destructive moth.

The mayor said there must be a better way to deal with the problem than wholesale spraying of the neighborhood.

He said federal officials have assured him that no spraying will be done for at least 24 hours to allow city council time to discuss the moth problem at its regular meeting today.

Volrich said he will recommend council ask federal officials to agree to use some other method of combating the moths.

The Greenpeace Foundation, which is opposed to the spray program, said it is pleased with the delay.

Greenpeace president Dr. Patrick Moore said the delay will give his group the opportunity to reveal all existing alternatives to the spray program.

The provincial agriculture ministry has said Greenpeace plans to combat the spread of the gypsy moth are inappropriate because the environmentalists advocate population control when total eradication is needed in Kitsilano.

U.S. Papers Bare RCMP Experiment

TORONTO (CP) — A spokesman for the American Citizens for Honesty in Government said Monday that the RCMP was involved with experiments to control the human mind through hypnosis, electric shock and other methods.

Brian Anderson said several documents obtained through the Freedom of Information Act in the U.S. show that the experiments were conducted with Canadian co-operation.

After speaking at a meeting sponsored by the Church of Scientology, Anderson said in an interview that similar documents are unobtainable in this country because Canada does not have a comparable information act.

Anderson said his group plans to investigate RCMP involvement with experiments on "unwitting and unknowing human subjects."

He said the group also will investigate the extent to which "the RCMP may have actually funded mind-control experiments," and their applications of mind control techniques "in their extensive domestic counter-intelligence programs."

sonally and put his prestige on the line on behalf of Louise Beaudoin, lawyer Jean-Claude Rivest better than doubled the Liberals' previous majority with a total of 14,684 votes. Ms. Beaudoin received 8,934.

"Today the real majority of Quebecers has spoken with force," Ryan told ecstatic supporters during his victory speech. He called the PQ's 1976 landslide "an accident" — the result of a three-way split which allowed the PQ to form a majority government with only 41 per cent of the popular vote.

Rivest, who made separatism the issue in Jean Talon, called the victories "the spring that is the beginning of the end of the Parti Quebecois winter."

Premier Levesque issued a terse statement saying the byelections changed nothing, since two outgoing Liberal members were replaced by two more.

However, he denounced the Liberals for once again using "fear" to keep themselves "in these ridings which were already strongholds."

For Levesque, who had said the PQ would regard as a "minor defeat" any outcome in Jean Talon that cut the 1976 Liberal margin, the results in that riding appeared to be a major setback, perhaps even a rebuke.

Standing in the 110-seat assembly is: Parti Quebecois 70; Liberal 26; Union Nationale 10; Independent 2. Two seats are vacant.

Quebec Battles Floods

Times News Services

MONTREAL — Quebec has joined the Prairie provinces, Ontario and New Brunswick in battling spring floods.

Forty families were evacuated Monday from Fort Coulonge, 80 kilometres northeast of Hull, after the Ottawa River rose to its highest level since 1960 and overflowed its banks.

The situation was most serious along the Ottawa River and the Lake of Two Mountains, near Montreal, where an increase of a few more inches in the water level could force more municipalities to evacuate residents.

The eastern part of the province, around Chaleur Bay, has its share of problems, too.

Meanwhile, the ring of dikes around flood-threatened communities in southern Manitoba have held so far as the crest of the swollen Red River moves from the United States deeper into Canada.

Water levels at the border town of Emerson, Man., dropped Monday and an official said there was little likelihood of a second crest.

The next town in the path of the Red River's peak flow is St. Jean Baptiste, where the crest, expected soon, is predicted at 15 centimetres higher than in 1950.

The crest is not expected to reach Winnipeg until the weekend. Although Winnipeg is protected by a floodway, some pockets of the city still remain flood-prone.

Harry Enns, cabinet minister in charge of the provincial Emergency Measures Organization (EMO), said it will be mid-May before families evacuated from the flooded area south of Winnipeg can expect to start going home.

In Ontario, the Ottawa River was threatening several low-lying residential areas of Ottawa and several families were evacuated from the Ottawa suburb of Constance Bay, but the situation in northern Ontario has stabilized.

The flood emergency has been declared over in Fredericton, N.B., and that provincial capital is returning to normal.

However, officials in Fort McMurray, Alta., about 350 kilometres northwest of Edmonton, were waiting today to see if blasting might be necessary to break up an ice jam on the Athabasca River which had flooded out 20 families in the town.

Flooding that covered half a million acres of farmland in southern Saskatchewan is continuing to stabilize.

H Treatment Plan Tested

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's controversial heroin treatment program will be challenged in B.C. Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Allan McEachern is expected to hear the case and 10 days later this month has been set aside.

The action was originally undertaken by the B.C. Civil Liberties Aassociation but, for technical reasons, the association is barred from being named in the case and the name of a former heroin addict has been substituted.

The case challenges the constitutionality of the legislation, arguing that only the federal government can become involved in such a program.

Callaghan Given Edge In Eleventh-Hour Poll

LONDON (AP) — With only two days left before Britain elects a new House of Commons, Prime Minister James Callaghan's Labor party took the lead over Margaret Thatcher's Conservatives in a public-opinion poll today for the first time in the campaign.

Callaghan was jubilant while Mrs. Thatcher remained calm at the news.

At his daily news conference, Callaghan commented: "The Conservatives ran out of puff some days ago. They hoped for a quick sprint to the polls — vote in haste, repent at leisure."

Mrs. Thatcher, hoping to be Europe's first woman prime minister, told her news conference she doesn't intend to change her tactics as a result of the poll. She said she doesn't attach much importance to polls.

The Labor lead in the National Opinion Poll taken Monday was only a minute 0.7 percentage point, an inconclusive margin. But it was registered after weeks of steady erosion in the sizable leads of about 20 percentage points which all the polls gave the Conservatives at the start of the campaign.

A National Opinion Poll two weeks ago put the Conservatives six percentage points ahead. Other polls in the last week have shown Tory leads of from three to 11.5 points, promising a big enough winning margin to form a government but not enough to push through the program of curbs on labor unions and reform of the welfare state which Mrs. Thatcher is promising.

The National Opinion Poll also indicated that one of the most vigorous media campaigns in British election history has not improved Mrs. Thatcher's personal standing with the voters. Asked which party leader they preferred for prime minister, 57 per cent chose Callaghan, 28 per cent liked Liberal Leader David Steel and only 23 per cent chose the Conservative.

Postal Workers Rampage

TORONTO (CP) — Postal workers from across Canada attending a hockey tournament punched holes in walls, turned fire hoses on and smashed lamps at the Skyline Hotel causing an estimated $30,000 damage, Metro police said.

Hotel owner Bill Hodgson, former owner of the Canadian Football League Toronto Argonauts, said he intends to bill the group for the damage.

About 30 rooms were so badly damaged they had to be closed.

Canada 2nd to U.S. In Use of Narcotics

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians consume narcotics at a rate second only to Americans among people in industrialized countries, the president of the Canadian Medical Association said Monday.

Addressing the annual council meeting of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. K. O. Wylie said that since 1971, consumption in Canada has risen to five milligrams per person from four milligrams' equivalent to morphine.

In a prepared speech that referred to physicians' salaries as well as narcotic consumption, Wylie said Canadians use more codeine than other industrialized countries.

However, he said physicians might be giving too little narcotic medication to patients with terminal illnesses and referred to another doctor's remark that medical practitioners might be giving "whatever is necessary to relieve pain."

Recognizing the disadvantages of written prescriptions, he said that "such increased controls would entail time-consuming administration and related costs for the physician, pharmacist and all concerned."

Wylie opened his speech with comments on doctors' salaries, expressing surprise that only 57 per cent of Canadians think physicians are overpaid.

Referring to a recent survey by a national magazine, Wylie said physicians' incomes had not risen as quickly as wages among other employment groups.

Fortune Buried In Her House

Suburban Cheviot police are trying to unravel the riddle of Genette Lemmon, an 81-year-old woman who lived alone, without water, surrounded by heaps of trash and a million-dollar fortune. After Miss Lemmon died at Cincinnati General Hospital, police discovered, amid heaps of garbage, an apparent fortune of more than $1 million. Said Cheviot Police Chief Donald Mackie: "We found $42,000 in cash, plus stocks, bonds and uncashed checks we catalogued as worth $502,000. We found one bank book with $240,000 on deposit." The woman who was "not senile" judging from records she kept, had gone without water since her pipes burst last winter, Mackie added.

A U.S. District Court judge today ordered that six-foot-tall Donald M. Gomes, 19, be given a berth on an all-girl volleyball team at Newport's Rogers High School in Newport, R.I., ruling he was a victim of sex discrimination. "A separate and exclusive female team may be established only when males previously had, and presumably continue to have, adequate athletic opportunities to participate in that sport," Judge Raymond J. Pettine ruled

George Bush, a Connecticut Yankee who made a fortune in Texas oil and found fame as CIA director and chief of the U.S. liaison to China, today became the sixth declared Republican candidate for the 1980 U.S. presidential election.

The trial of Clarence Campbell, former president of the National Hockey League, on charges of conspiring to give a $95,000 bribe to Liberal Senator Louis Giguere has been delayed until the fall.

American civil rights activist Angela Davis is among six foreigners named recipients of the International Lenin Peace Prize awarded to mark today's May Day celebrations, the Soviet Tass news agency reported. Other foreigners honored were Kurt Bachmann, a member of the West German Communist Party's Presidium; Frieda Brown of Australia, president of the Women's International Democratic Federation; Krishna Menon, president of the Indian-Soviet Cultural Society; Galina Skibniewska, a vice-marshal of the Polish Sejm, or parliament, and Vilma Espin Guilloys, president of the Federation of Cuban Women.

Jeanne Valence, 43, who once before stood a partial trial on charges stemming from the 1977 kidnapping of banker Charles Marion in Sherbrooke, Que., will have to do so again. Previously suspended charges against Mrs. Valence have been filed again in slightly revised form.

Former stewardess Grainne Cronin 23, took the controls of an Aer Lingus flight from Dublin to London Monday, officially becoming the Irish airline's first woman pilot. She is the daughter of a senior Aer Lingus pilot.

LOWER AUTO INSURANCE RATES FOR YOUNG DRIVERS.

Social Credit has made a firm commitment to end the present discrimination in auto insurance rates…so that insurance premiums will be based strictly on the individual's driving record. The largest group to benefit will be single male drivers under 25 years of age. However, many others will also be affected… because the commitment is to end discrimination on the basis of age, sex, marital status and geographic location. Social Credit believes that every good driver in B.C. should have an equal opportunity to enjoy the best possible auto insurance rates…and we intend to back up that belief with positive action in the next driving year.

No politics here, please

Some issues are so important that no one should be allowed to turn them into fodder for the election cannons.

One of those issues is the question of responsibility for the tragic deaths of three infants in the Lower Mainland during the past 14 months. Serious questions have been raised in all three cases about the role of the ministry of human resources, the government department entrusted with the responsibility of protecting children in this province.

It is, therefore, deeply regrettable that Human Resources Minister Grace McCarthy is reducing the whole issue to a question of politics. Mrs. McCarthy said recently that opponents of the Social Credit government are exploiting the babies' deaths for political gain, that the publicizing of reports on the deaths originate with "people who are, for reasons of their own that have nothing to do with concern for children, concerned with damaging the reputation of the ministry of human resources."

Anyone hearing that would think that it was NDP candidates who had been shouting from every election platform about the tragedies, practically blaming the Socreds for causing unnecessary suffering.

It just isn't so. The reports have originated in two cases with police officers and in the third with a coroner.

It was New Westminster coroner Doug Jack who complained in an official report of the "total lack of communication between various resource departments" after investigating one of the cases.

It was two Surrey RCMP officers who went public with their obviously sincere concern that human resources ministry workers had known that another of the children had been abused for at least two months before she was fatally beaten.

It was another RCMP detachment that launched an investigation into the third case, a five-month-old boy who died of natural causes in a Langley foster home.

One of these cases would be cause for concern. The three taken together show a need for a careful investigation of ministry procedures. The investigation should be entirely independent and non-partisan; the issue is the procedures of a large ministry, not the question of what political party is or is not to blame for those procedures.

Any politicization of the issue can only reduce the chances of an appropriate investigation being undertaken. It will not help the babies for whom it is already too late for anything to be done, and it may well hurt other children who need the protection of a ministry that has no procedural problems to get in the way of children's needs.

A sad irony

Nine hundred Americans committed suicide last November in the jungles of Guyana, and months later many of them still have no final resting place.

The wrangling over where to bury the people who died at Jonestown and who is going to pay for it has involved the U.S. state department, the foreign aid program (which paid for transporting the bodies to the U.S.), state governments, municipal authorities and California cemeteries. The arguments continues to pour forth.

A cemetery in Marin County, across the Golden Gate bridge from San Francisco where the Peoples Temple church of Rev. Jim Jones was located, agreed to take 248 unidentified bodies.

But the offer caused an immediate outcry. The county board of supervisors voted to ask that most of the Jonestown victims be buried elsewhere. Anti-Jonestown graffiti were spray-painted on the cemetery walls. One county supervisor feared that the cemetery might become "a cult shrine" or bizarre tourist attraction.

Protests from local residents were so intense that the lawyer in charge of the burials abruptly switched the 248 to a cemetery across the bay in Oakland.

It seems a sad irony that the Peoples Temple suicides, who were mostly poor and dispossessed, drifters and down and out types, should be shunned in death as well.

Tory tax plan has critics in the U.S.

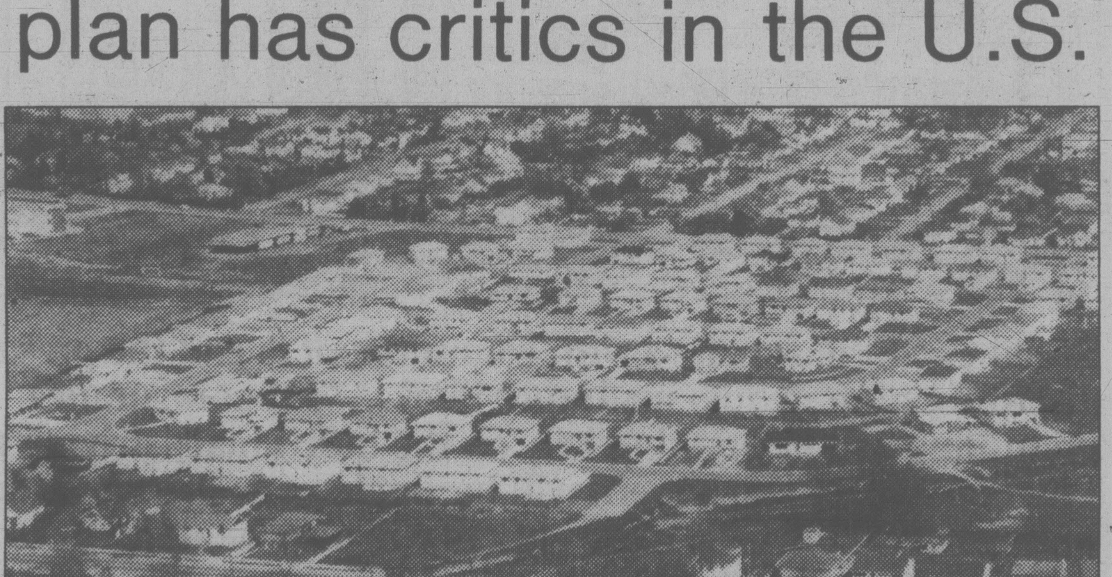
WASHINGTON — Joe Clark's controversial package of tax breaks for Canadian homeowners is modelled after a more generous U.S. scheme that many critics here say is illogical, outdated and unfair.

More than 25 million American households benefit from the double-barrelled incentives to owning a home — deductibility of mortgage interest and property taxes from income taxes — which have become entrenched in the U.S. tax code since before the depression years.

And as Jimmy Carter discovered in 1976, any politician who thinks of tampering with these incentives in the name of tax reform risks getting his fingers burned.

By no means do bureaucrats, tax experts and housing industry sources agree on the merits of these "deductibles," which will cost the U.S. government $14.6 billion in lost revenues in the 1980 fiscal year.

Descriptions run the gamut from "a terrible mistake" in a modern economy, to the view that the tax breaks are a key ingredient of the "American dream" of owning your own home.



U.S. has had mortgage tax deduction for more than 30 years.

Builders love the plan

If there is any consensus, it is that the tax breaks are a good idea whose time has passed.

On one point there is agreement: Mortgage interest and property tax deductibility has wide popular support, and the scheme is a sure-fire vote grabber.

"You can get not only [the support of] the rich," said Nelson McClung, director of personal taxation for the U.S. treasury department, "but everybody who thinks that one day he is going to be rich."

Within treasury, there is the prevailing view that deductibles should be eliminated, possibly in favor of credits against personal income taxes that would benefit millions more Americans.

"They offend economic logic," said Mr. McClung in a candid interview, adding that most American homeowners don't benefit from the scheme because they do not itemize deductions in their tax returns.

About a third of U.S. taxpayers earn enough to take advantage of the deductibles, and it is here that the barricades around them have been erected. Americans have enjoyed unlimited deductions on mortgage interest and property tax for decades. It's a sweetheart deal, especially for the wealthy. The more expensive the property, the greater the saving.

This would be mitigated under Conservative Leader Joe Clark's proposed plan, by limiting the allowable deduction of mortgage interest to $5,000 a year, and municipal property tax to $1,000 a year.

The theory is a simple one: by making it more financially attractive to take on a mortgage, you spur some building, create jobs, and the homebuyer, with more disposable income, can inject more money into the economy.

The companies that build houses cherish the idea. "This is a tax benefit that hits the middle income person — the typical American out there who doesn't have access to other benefits in the tax laws," said Jay Shackford of the National Association of Homebuilders.

For a household earning $25,000 a year, and carrying a $50,000 mortgage, the annual saving can be between $900 and $1,200 a year, he said.

On Capitol Hill, where mortgage tax deductibility has strong defenders, economists say privately that for a country like Canada which already has a high percentage of home ownership (62 per cent of households vs. 65 in the U.S.), such a deduction may not be wise.

"A country is better off not getting into this kind of thing," said one economist with a key tax committee on the Hill. "There would be less frustration and less bitterness [without it]."

One common view is that interest deductibility is an invitation to people to take on a heavy mortgage — far higher than their budget would normally allow.

Indeed, said one Washington tax expert, businessmen looking for tax breaks often use this deductibility to "play financial games" with their capital, by refinancing a home and using this essentially interest-free money for other purposes.

This "loophole" is jealously protected by the well to do who naturally have more clout with congressmen.

Some tax reformers say that the introduction of mortgage interest deductibility would be "a step backward" for a country like Canada, which could benefit from the lessons of the U.S. experience.

Bob McIntyre, a member of Ralph Nader's tax reform group, describes the policy as an enormous "subsidy" which dwarfs other federal housing programs.

In 1980, Washington will pay out less than $8 billion in direct subsidies for home ownership and low income rental housing. This is about half of the value of the total tax breake derived from mortage interest and property tax deductibility.

"You talk about the welfare state for the poor," said McClung at treasury, "but we are giving them nickels and dimes compared to this.

"This is the real welfare state."

And once the policy is introduced, he said, there is no turning back.

"If Canada adopts the deductibility of home mortgage interest, it will discover that it can never get rid of it. It will become a permanent feature of your economy."

With Jimmy Carter in the White House, treasury began to plan the dismantling of these tax breaks which the candidate turned president had criticized. Within six months, the tax officials were told the breaks would remain. Public pressure to keep them on the books was just too strong.

They originated in the early decades of the century, as the tax code was evolving. Some say the mortgage interest deductibility came about "by accident."

"This was before World War II, when tax rates were very low," explained McIntyre. "It was decided that the interest which businesses pay on money they borrow should be tax deductible."

Done to simplify things

"From this flowed the idea that maybe we should do the same for home loans. This would make the tax system less complicated. It was really adopted for simplicity."

After the war, these tax breaks were instrumental in getting the U.S. housing industry into gear, when young families had the urge and the cash to buy their own property. By the time that officials began to recognize the inequities of the policy, it had become institutionalized — too late to turn back.

These and other points were impressed on a group of Canadian politicians who visited Washington earlier this year to study the U.S. experience.

In the words of one of the Canadians, Liberal MP Edward Lumley, the Conservative Party proposal "was rejected outright with terminology such as tragic and every other name you can put on it."

This may have been overstating the case, but the fact remains that the American experience raises some serious questions about a proposal at the centre of the Canadian election campaign.

Trailer rents

I am having a problem with my mobile home rent because of an order handed down by the Rent Review Commission. Normally a landlord operating a mobile home park is allowed by law to raise his rent annually by a maximum of seven per cent. An increase greater than this amount must have the approval of the Rent Review Commission. In the case of the park in which I live, such approval was granted in September of 1975 and again in September of 1978.

On August 15, 1978, inquiry officer, Kathy Hancock, called a meeting of the landlord and tenants of our park. In the course of this meeting our landlord stated that if he received $110 a month from each tenant, the rent would not increase for a period of three years. However, when the order of the Rent Review Commission was released, it stated that the rent was to start at $110 (plus $2.00 to cover cablevision increase if there should be an increase).

That is, the landlord's request to have rent fixed at $110 for three years was ignored and at the expense of the tenants he was given more than he asked for. Indeed, the rent went from $89.94 to $112, a sum of $22.06, or an increase of over 24 per cent.

This order was protested by a group of tenants so a second meeting was held on October 18, 1978. This meeting was called by Mr. Jim Patterson, rentalsman. Although certain tenants pointed out fallacies in a so-called financial statement produced by the landlord, and objected to the unreasonable rent increase granted in the former order, Mr. Pattersn confirmed that order and set the rent at $112.

I continued to pursue this matter and was referred to Gwen Taylor of the Victoria office of the rentalsman. She stated that she understood my landlord was not prepared to give a three-year rental agreement to his tenants but asked me to obtain a statement from him.

The landlord stated that he was not prepared to give such an agreement because he had been told by Mrs. Hancock and by Mr. Patterson that such an agreement was not feasible. Neither of these people has explained to me why a three-year agreement of $110 a month, is not feasible.

More recently I had a meeting with Mr. Lyle Kahl, MLA, and Jim Nielsen, minister of consumer and corporate affairs. When, in this meeting, Mr. Kahl suggested that making more land available for mobile home parks might stop constantly escalating trailer park rents, Mr. Nielsen showed very little interest but said he would see Mr. Patterson.

On March 24, Mr. Patterson was invited to address a meeting of the Active Mobile Home Association. The main point of his address was that the park owners must be able to make a fair profit. If not, they could close their parks after giving a four-month notice to the tenants. When I asked him where I as a mobile home owner would go in such a case, I was told this was my responsibility but that if I refused to leave I could be charged with trespassing.

Also, at this meeting Mr. Patterson stated that only five per cent of mobile homes in British Columbia had their rent increased beyond the seven per cent allowed by law. Was our park with 40 sites the only one to be subject to this increase? Why pick on us when our rent of $112 is so much higher than the Victoria average of $87?

Fellow mobile home owners, it is obvious that the policy of the present govenment favors park owners. Please consider this when you vote in the forthcoming provincial election. At the present rate of increase many of us will not be able to pay our rent in a very few years. Let us elect candidates who are interested in the welfare of the senior citizens of this province. But please go out and vote. — May Peden, 848 Hockley Avenue.

Park would suffer

Re: Biologist's Plea Carries the Day for Increased Storage at Thetis, in the Times of April 18.

It is unfortunate that the important environmental issue of raising Thetis Lake has been simplified to the following absurd question: are a few (about 350) trees worth thousands and thousands of trout?

I do not agree with this simplification of the problem. We cannot weigh trout against trees, but we must deal with the whole complex involved in the controversy, that is, with Colquitz Creek and Thetis Park.

I cannot judge the past, present, or potential value of Colquitz Creek for fish production in the Victoria area. It would be ideal to have a good fishing stream in the backyard of a future shopping centre.

But the proposed scheme would mean a significant degradation of Thetis Lake Park. This park is a rather unique locality of many plant species that are rare in British Columbia. Two of these species do not occur elsewhere in Canada. A detailed study of the Thetis Lake area was published by the B.C. provincial museum in 1965 and everyone involved or interested in the recent controversy should acquaint themselves with this publication.

Read it and you will realize why a small municipal park has received attention which the majority of provincial parks still lack. It is unfortunate that the fate of this unique place is in the hands of a few aldermen who do not recognize its value and significance.

The raising of Thetis Lake would have a very negative impact on the integrity of the park. A fluctuating water level would prevent the establishment of a natural shoreline since there are very few plant species which can colonize such an extreme environment. The raising of Thetis Lake would leave a permanent scar within the important area of Thetis Park. Improving Colquitz Creek by regulating its water flow would be a highly interesting experiment. However, Thetis Lake Park is not an appropriate place for such an experiment. — Adolf Ceska, Ceska Geobotanical Research Company, 1809 Penshurst Road.

Strong government

Events, especially in the realm of provincial and federal politics, can be differently interpreted.

Angus McLean, the brand new premier of Canada's smallest province, summed up truly and modestly the meaning of his victory by saying: "The people were just tired of the Liberals."

Vic Stephens seized this opportunity to talk of a Conservative trend throughout the country. this is certainly true in federal politics and at provincial levels also, but only when the opposition is Liberal or when there is a very small representation of Liberals in the provincial legislature, e.g. the Liberals are not the official opposition.

The situation in B.C. is totally different from that of Prince Edward Island. We do not have in our province either a strong (even moderately strong) Liberal or a Conservative opposition. Our government is a majority Social Credit with a minority NDP. Therefore, any vote cast for either Grits or Tories provincially is an exercise in futility and could result in a weak provincial government, the worst that could happen in B.C., if the voters fall for promises that have no chance of being implemented because neither the Grits nor the Tories will form the government on May 10.

A weak or minority government will not be good for B.C. Many programs in these days and age are long term ones; a weak government will find it almost impossible to carry them out, as debates in the legislature will be endless, bitter and frustrating, until the voters will have to be recalled to the polls, perhaps within a few months.

Albertans are showing the way. Don't try to explain the success of the Lougheed administration by two three-letter words, i.e. gas and oil, but attribute it to a very strong, solid, competent government with a small free enterprise opposition. Incidentally, in Alberta there is only one NDP member of the legislature — one too many perhaps, but that's the way it is! — E. J. Lattes, 432 — 200 Dallas Road.

Dwindling debates

Democracy and debate go hand in hand, and each has dwindled under the Socred administration. Since the end of 1975 there has been a total of not more than 281 sitting days of the legislature, including the recent nine which were quite unproductive. More to the point, there have been no sittings, no debate since June 30, 1978 with the affairs of the province conducted by order-in-council.

This last session was merely using the legislature as a stage, from which to depart for a few days for a Socred convention, and then from which to distribute copies of the budget as material for the launching of an election campaign.

When challenged to debate the issues with Mr. Barrett the leader of the opposition, the premier refused — not in a straight forward manner mind you — but by making an irrelevant and rather foolish counter-offer to debate only with three people.

We are now receiving a further substitute for debate. The very expensive publication of the "you compare" series of Socred advertisements. Very selective information and "statistics" are supplied for various spheres of government activity. The information not included is monumental — for example, in the arena of mining there is no mention of world copper and other metal prices, the cost to the taxpayer of the Socred policies, or the fact that the present healthy income from oil and gas is a direct result of the NDP's prudent policies of jurisdiction and a more realistic sales price!

The implication is that debate is a bit risky, so here is our side of the story, prepared and paid for by interested parties — now let's see who can afford to publish the rest of the facts . . .

The citizens of B.C. deserve a change from government by decree, democracy by dollars and debate by deception. — H. Nicol, 1475 Banff Place.

Not real socialism

In his letter of April 10 on the subject of "What Is Socialism?" and its implications for the B.C. election, Mr. Stott's well-intended idealism ends in nothing more than warmed over capitalist stew.

Like NDPers generally, they may vaguely be in favor of production for use, but fail to grasp its full implication.

Production for use is the edifice of a socialist society and means there will be no more buying or selling, no more working for wages, no more need for a money system, no market system and no more class-divided society with its strikes, violence, crime, poverty, insecurity and threat of war.

This is not what Mr. Stott says in his letter. Instead, he retains the notion that there should be freedom for the small businessman to compete in the market place and this puts him right back where he came in, a staunch supporter of capitalism.

The NDP is no different. Its leadership and membership alike are loyal supporters of the present capitalist system whether they realize it or not.

The NDP has often pointed to Sweden as an example of democratic socialism. Strange then, that the Swedish ambassador interviewed in Victoria should refer to Sweden as one of the highest developed capitalist countries in Europe. So much for democratic socialism. It sounds good and is still a good vote-catcher until exposed for that it is, just another dead end and a hoax.

Those readers who are serious and really interested in learning about socialism and how to use their ballot to bring it about should get in touch with the Socialist Party of Canada, P.O. Box 4280, Station 'A', Victoria, B.C. It's not too late, it's your move now. — J. T. Lambie, 64 Jones Terrace.

Had lots of time

I write to protest the suggestion in a recent editorial (It's What They Chose, April 14) that somehow the residents of View Royal have only themselves to blame for the Capital Regional Board's desire to shove a sewage tank truck dump in their community.

I attended the public meeting which led to your editorial comment and was astonished to hear that the site proposed by the Capital Regional Board was not the number one choice — in fact another site was preferable, but because of legal considerations, that site could not be expropriated in the short time available.

The critical question, which has never been answered, is why was there so little time available? After all, the previous dump site was filling up, a matter known to the operators and the engineers for the past few years. Why was the regional board caught so unprepared when, finally, a new site had to be chosen?

There have been months, years in fact, to find the best site and take any expropriation proceedings that may be required. To blame View Royal residents hardly seems fair. To blame them for trying to protect their residential area, and the future hospital, from an adjacent sewage dumping facility seems rediculous.

I also take exception to the specious argument that it is their fault for not protecting themselves by incorporating and having a city council, city hall, city bureaucracy and all the costs that are entailed.

Surely whether the area is incorporated or not has no bearing whatsoever on whether the site in question is a good one for the facility or not? What on earth is the value of the regional board if it does not take decisions on what is best for the region as a whole? Your argument is a frightening one for those living to the west of the city, in that it suggests that the board operates to protect the existing organized communities at the expense of the rest. — David Anderson, Liberal Candidate, Cowichan-Malahat and the Islands.

Unfair coverage

After careful analysis I must take issue with the lack of fairness and evenhandedness in reporting the current provincial election campaign. I attended the nominating convention in Victoria when Sam Bawlf and Mayor Michael Young were acclaimed as Social Credit candidates.

It was bad enough for a "country mouse" like myself on a brief jaunt into the big city, to be accorded the status of a member of the "disco set." (Sure glad I hosed off my gum boots before heading down!) I guess Ms. McLintock was too engrossed in her knitting to count the house, but by my count she was around 150 shy — by my reckoning over a 60 per cent error Surely a bit much for an "in depth" study of a political event by the editor of a leading newspaper.

Last weekend, however, your estimable journal rose to real heights of biased reporting. It took you three days to report the nomination of a cabinet minister in a Greater Victoria riding and then you had the gall to bury it on page two. The event took place on Friday evening, April 20, when in a crowded, enthusiastic convention Hugh Curtis won a spirited victory over John Tisdalle, who acquitted himself with distinction. To your discredit, it was ignored in your issue of Saturday, April 21. Finally, a few paltry inches on a back page and to add further insult to considerable injury, you once again significantly underestimate the house (this time by only 33 per cent, an improvement, but still shameful!)

Ms. McLintock is certainly allowed her biases in a bylined article, especially when she enhances what I thought was a pretty rustic image. To "millionaire car dealer" has now been added "disco setter!" Very sexy indeed!

The delay in reporting a significant political event in an election campaign, however, is reprehensible. Having failed to report the news promptly, you have the effrontery to compound your felony by then burying the story and emasculating it. I sincerely hope that you will show some objectivity and fairness in the remaining two weeks of this campaign. — J. R. Rangel, 11054 Kittiwake Place.

A few questions

We have recently noticed a series of advertisements in your paper comparing the three years of the NDP disadvantageously with three years of the Socreds.

While not being a certified financial analyst, I have some questions that I would like the Socreds to answer in regard to these comparisons:

☐ The NDP was in power for only two full fiscal years. How did they arrive at the three-year figure?

☐ Was inflation taken into account and adjustments made?

☐ Are there any areas at all where the Socreds did not do as well as the NDP?

☐ What were the market trends elsewhere in the country at these times?

☐ What about factors such as unemployment, the poverty base, mortgage foreclosures, business bankruptcies, etc., during the times in question?

Until these and other pertinent questions are answered fully with proper backup evidence I regret I am compelled to reserve judgement on these claims. — L. Melder, 1206 Montrose Avenue.

What's in a name?

The names of political parties in B.C. intrigue and puzzle me, in philosophy and apparent contradictions. Your socialistic party — New Democrats — sounds like a northern revision of the party of Woodrow Wilson, Kennedy and Carter.

Their rivals — Social Credit — attempt to smear them as the national socialist party, puzzling because even in darkest California we heard the New Democrats originated medicare and don't own a Belsen oven.

Then what is the meaning of "social" in the Socred party? Suddenly, a beautiful word, if without -ism or -istic tacked on? — Morris Fletcher, San Diego, California.

You can't govern by referendum

Toronto Star

OTTAWA — The National Citizens' Coalition, which is non-party but not non-political in that it exists to promote private enterprise, has just had a resounding yes response to a poll on public referendums.

Seventy-nine per cent of respondents said they favored the idea of putting questions to the public at large with the results binding on the government of the day, when a sufficient number of people indicated by petition that they wanted the question put.

Thus if 200,000 people, or whatever the number decided upon, said they wanted a referendum on the reintroduction of hanging for pre-meditated murder, and if the question subsequently carried, the next person convicted of pre-meditated murder would be hanged.

Seductive

The public's will would be done, cleanly, straightforwardly — subject only to the possibility that juries, with the persons to be hanged no longer abstract but directly before their own eyes and consciences, might cease to convict.

The idea of referendums is undeniably seductive — what could be more democratic than asking the people themselves what they want on this or that? — but the poll of the National Citizens' Coalition itself demonstrates several things that are wrong with them.

One is that the question in many cases can almost guarantee the answer. As an illustration, it would be hard to do better than the coalition's own question: "What do you think about federal government spending?"

Although the poll-takers were fair to give respondents the chance to say it was too low (2 per cent did), or that it was about right (8 per cent), an overwhelming 90 per cent, in near enough to equal parts, said it was the main cause of inflation, was out of control, or was simply too high.

As the view of a slice of the community, the response is interesting, although scarcely surprising since it is latent in most of us, needing only to be fanned from time to time, to believe that government spending, at least in the abstract, is always too high.

But if the same people had been asked not about government spending in general, but whether old age pensions, say, should be cut by one-third as an economy measure, a different result might be anticipated.

So might it if the National Citizens' Association's own private enterprise membership had been asked if government aid to business and industry should be done away with as an unwarranted addition to the load of public spending.

Convoluted

It is another fault of such polls, and most referendums, that they demand simple answers to complex questions.

Is public spending too high? If so, in relation to what? Where should economies be made? Or is it possible that it was too high a little earlier, which is why it is very much in the public mind at the moment, but is no longer too high — and that hacking an indiscriminate hunk off it might be exactly the wrong thing?

David Somerville, as spokesman for the National Citizens' Coalition, naturally is wholeheartedly in favor of referendums. But not all referendums.

Government-initiated referendums, posed in convoluted terms, he says, can "give government another opportunity to con the people." When the question originates with the citizenry, however, "it is to the advantage of the people putting the question to put it clearly."

Simplistic

He does not agree that special interest groups may promote simplistic questions to further their own selfish ends, as some people have viewed the history of California's celebrated Proposition 13. Somerville sees publicly initiated questions solely as a means for the mass of people to ensure they get their way.

He also favors mandated referendums which, for example, might be used to ask public approval of pay increases for MPs. The parties would agree on a figure to put to the public, which then would say yes or no.

Although the present nonmethod is unsatisfactory, that would be worse. There would be a strong temptation for many simply to say no, in any and all circumstances. Further, it smacks too much of the idea that MPs are public employees and not representatives, which is a wrong idea.

At last, Vancouver gets an art gallery

By JOHN CLARKE

VANCOUVER — In a couple of years, the only judgments being made in the Vancouver Courthouse will be between the relative merits of the great masters of the easel. That's when it will have been converted from a hall of justice to Vancouver's first real art gallery worthy of comparison to those in Montreal and Toronto.

For years, the city's foremost art exhibition hall has been a fairly nondescript, slightly modernistic establishment lodged between a movie theatre and an office highrise, with only 12,000 square feet of show space, not big enough for more than a miniature exhibition. Indeed, lack of space was one of the reasons why Vancouver never got the travelling King Tutankhamen exhibition going to Toronto in November.

While art patrons moaned, judges at the courthouse complained about working in a veritable rabbit warren of tiny rooms and inconvenient spaces as the case calendars grow larger and larger.

Both problems are about to be solved with one sweep of the brush. At the end of this year, the judges will move to spanking-new courtrooms and offices in the Robson Square complex just back of the old courthouse's rear door. As soon as they've gone, builders will move in to turn their old quarters into the newest and most modern art gallery in Canada.

To do that, they'll have to gut virtually the whole interior because the courtrooms are no more suitable for displaying art than for dispensing justice. The beautiful stonework exterior with its colonnaded entrances will be maintained because, as a designated heritage, they can't be disturbed. But the three floors that now provide about 33,000 square feet will be pushed and pulled around to create about 45,000 square feet of exhibition floor space, including a children's gallery.

One floor will be devoted to a collection of paintings by Emily Carr. Others will be used for historical and contemporary exhibitions. The building will also be given a complete humidity control system to give the exhibits better protection than they get in the present gallery.

The estimated cost is just over $13 million, with $5 million coming from the proceeds of a land swap between the City of Vancouver and the complex developers, together with the sale of the existing art gallery. The gallery is applying for $2.5 million from the provincial government and $4.5 million from Ottawa, which would be in line with federal support for the galleries in Toronto and Montreal.

The Vancouver Gallery board is trying to raise $2.5 million in private donations. It already has $250,000 each from Macmillan Bloedel and from a so far anonymous donor. The campaign target date is June 30.

For gallery director Luke Rombout, this project will be a beautiful marriage of the old and new. "We're breaking new ground in that old building," he says. "It's not common to convert old buildings. But we feel this building has tremendous character and dignity and you can easily associate it with cultural activity and the visual arts. We've been interested and very excited about the concept of taking one of these old historic buildings and giving it a new and vital life."

Spectrum Student Rewarded

Spectrum Community School graduating student Steven Baillie has been awarded one of four provincial $6,500 scholarships to attend the Lester B. Pearson College of the Pacific.

The scholarships announced by the government Monday go to outstanding students with a proven interest in and knowledge of Canadian and international affairs.

The award will cover Baillie for two years at the Metchosin campus. Students from the mainland received the other scholarships.

The bursaries come from the the Duke of Edinburgh Scholarship fund set up by the government last year.

Ney to Run Independently

Former Greater Victoria school trustee Dr. Philip Ney has filed as an independent in Esquimalt-Saanich riding in the May 22 federal election.

Ney, a psychiatrist, served two terms on the board from 1971 to 1974.

The Marxist-Leninist Party of Canada has nominated Katie Fraser to run in Nanaimo-Alberni riding and Dorothy Ratzlaff in Victoria.

Trustees Say No Again To Budget Prediction

Greater Victoria school board has refused for the second straight year to submit a five-year budget forecast to the education ministry.

Trustees Monday decided not to provide Education Minister Pat McGeer with the budget information, even after they were told the Public Schools Act give McGeer a right to it.

The board treated the ministry's request in much the same way it did last year when McGeer asked all school districts in the province give him a five-year projection.

This district was the only one in the province last year to turn down the request.

Trustees believe they can't make accurate long-range predictions until they have developed concrete planning policy.

Trustee Mark Fisher said Monday alterations to the finance formula by the province make it impossible for the board to predict yearly budgets so far ahead.

"We're never going to win this game because the rules are decided at the 11th hour," he said.

The ministry fixes the cost-sharing formula Dec. 1 each year, after school districts have handed in their provisional budgets. Final budget decisions are based on that formula.

"We can only budget from year to year by the seat of our pants," Fisher commented.

Taxpayers Pay More Of School Cost Share

Local taxpayers will pay a larger share of the costs of running Greater Victoria School District this year.

A 1979 mill rate bylaw passed Monday by the school board sets the new rate at 45.8 mills, up only four-tenths of a mill from last year, but the assessment will increase by almost $3 million due to changes in the province's finance formula.

In 1978 a 45.4-mill levy raised $28.7 million, this year the 45.8 levy will raise $31.6 million.

Under the new financing formula, the province will pay 31.8 per cent of the basic education program this year and district taxpayers 68.2 per cent. Last year the province's share was 35 per cent.

The total 1979 budget is $49 million, a 6.6 per cent increase over last year.

Saanich Shop Centres: One Loss, One Win

By PAUL MOSS
Times Staff

Within about five hours Monday Saanich municipality lost one major shopping centre and gained another.

The project withdrawn is a proposed major expansion of the Town and Country shopping centre, which would also have been the first stage in the commercial development of the so-called civic core area between Vernon and Seymour.

The project approved by council, following a well-attended public hearing Monday night, was a new $12 million shopping centre of about 295,000 square feet on the site of the Tillicum drive-in theatre.

Mayor Mel Couvelier confirmed during the hearing that Campeau Corporation, owners of the Town and Country centre, had cancelled plans for the expansion because the price of the land was "totally out of line."

The mayor later told reporters the company's head office had refused to pay the $14-per-square-foot price demanded by the property owners in the area.

"The total issue is dead," Couvelier said, adding that council is very disappointed at the news received late Monday which is a major setback to Saanich's "town centre" concept.

The Campeau project was to have included a parking structure, supermarket and office building linked to the Town and Country centre by a mall beneath Seymour.

Couvelier said Saanich planners will now have to rethink their approach to the redevelopment of the narow strip of land between the two traffic arteries.

In any case, he said, Campeau and some of the prospective retail tenants had been expressing concern that traffic speed along the Blanshard extension made the site unsuitable for a major retail development.

"They felt the traffic was moving too fast to be captured."

Other development possibilities which should now be considered include hotel and theatre uses, he said.

Asked if the the landowners' greed had effectively killed the goose that might have laid the golden egg, Couvelier replied: "Now wouldn't that be beautifully ironic?"

The shopping centre on the drive-in site at Tillicum and Burnside is to be built by West Vancouver developers Cal Investments Ltd.

The two-storey structure will include a major department store (Zeller's), a smaller department store, a supermarket and several small shops.

In their presentation at the hearing Cal spokesmen estimated the project would yield tax revenue of $300,000 annually for Saanich and provide a total of 800 jobs — 350 permanent and 450 part-time.

Council approved the rezoning by a 6-1 vote, with only Ald. David Paterson opposed.

Paterson argued that the Cal application should be tabled until Saanich had received a formal application from Broadmead Farms Ltd. for its proposed Broadmead Village shopping centre. There should then be a cost benefit analysis to determine which was the better from the municipality's point of view."

But Couvelier replied that it was not an either-or situation because the Tillicum project in no way affects the Broadmead proposal.

Several merchants of nearby shopping centres expressed opposition at the public hearing, claiming the project would harm their business.

But the opinion of residents in the vicinity appeared to be fairly equally divided between those opposed to the development and those who welcome it as an improvement on the drive-in theatre.

New Suit Launched To Dump Paterson

A second B.C. Supreme Court bid to have Ald. David Paterson removed from Saanich council has been launched by the Cadboro Bay Residents' Association.

But the result of this, another episode in the legal saga surrounding the controversial Minnie Mountain development, may be purely academic.

Paterson said today by the time the case comes up for hearing he'll be near the end of his two-year term on council, and he has no intention of seeking re-election.

Although he has given his lawyer instructions to file a notice of appearance, the alderman said he is unlikely to defend the action because he can't afford it "financially or mentally."

The petition filed by eight individuals seeks Paterson's disqualification because he voted to appeal an earlier B.C. Supreme Court action which quashed the land-use contract bylaw for the proposed Minnie Mountain development at Ten Mile Point.

It also cites his participation in a recent Saanich council vote to call a public hearing on an unrelated rezoning application in the Broadmead area by Broadmead Farms Ltd. (the Minnie Mountain developers).

The judgment in the original action quashed the Minnie Mountain bylaw because the judge ruled that Paterson, as an employee of the legal firm representing both Saanich and the developers, had a disqualifying interest.

But the judge rejected the petitioners' argument that Paterson be removed from office.

Broadmead Farms is appealing the decision to quash the bylaw.

Paterson said today he can't see what the neighborhood residents hope to gain by a second attempt to unseat him.

He said it is ironic the community group had stressed earlier that his involvement in the legal proceedings was incidental to a broader issue.

The group had also made out it was at a disadvantage in fighting the development through costly legal battles.

"Yet they seem to keep coming up with the funds to conduct cases against me as an individual," he added.

Five-Mill Tax Reduction But Some May Pay More

Saanich taxpayers were given some financial relief Monday in a 1979 budget which will mean a five-mill tax reduction.

The budget approved by council reduces the general purposes mill rate (including debt charges and the regional district levy) from 53.33 mills last year to 48.31.

In dollar terms Saanich will be asking taxpayers to provide $35,000 less than in 1978, Mayor Mel Couvelier said today.

The levy for meeting the general expenditure requirements of the municipality totals $10,488,834, compared with last year's figure of $10,523,280.

Couvelier is pleased with the budget-cutting job done by council over the past several weeks. The cuts combined with increased grants from the provincial government, higher-than-expected revenues and rolled-in surpluses have enabled Saanich to meet the five-per-cent ceiling on budget increases dictated by the Socred government. (The municipality's actual budget increase 4.7 per cent).

But the mayor is also worried.

"This year we have consumed all our surpluses in the budgeting process," he explained. "We didn't leave a thing.

"In my view that's bad financial management, but it was imposed on us by the provincial government."

However, the mayor said the economies forced on Saanich will not mean the layoffs of any permanent staff, as council feared when it first tackled the budget.

Despite the five-mill reduction some individual homeowners could still end up paying more in taxes than they did in 1978, if their assessments have increased by more than five per cent in the second year of the three-year phase-in for assessment increases.

According to a municipal official, if a typical Saanich home has had an assessment increase of, say, 10 per cent in 1979, the mill rate applied to that assessment will mean the individual pays about $50 more than he did last year.

But, depending on the outcome of the May 10 provincial election, the taxpayer might have the $50 increase wiped out and also enjoy a $50 reduction onhis 1978 tax bill.

The explanation: In its budget brought down just before the election, the Socred administration promised a $100 increase in the homeowner grant.

"Whether that would happen under the NDP remains to be seen," the official added.

Before The Judge

A 44-year-old city man was remanded in custody until Wednesday following his appearance in provincial court Monday before Judge Blake Allan.

Kenneth Lucas Carter, 1575 Begbie, was charged with the attempted murder of Maureen Bennett Carter, assaulting June Burns causing bodily harm and possession of a dangerous weapon, a steel bar, following a Saturday incident in Saanich.

Defence lawyer Douglas Christie elected trial by judge and jury and argued against a motion by Crown counsel Robert Mulligan for a three-day remand for psychiatric examination.

However, Allan granted the application and remanded Carter until Wednesday for possible bail hearing.

Also remanded for psychiatric assessment was a 27-year-old Victoria woman.

Dorene Helen Dimbiske, 1350 Stanley, was charged with setting fire to a garbage container likely to cause fire to the Orange Julius Refreshment Centre, 720 Yates, on Saturday.

Allan remanded her in custody until today for possible bail hearing and election of trial method.

Henderson is charged with a break-in April 21 at the fourth-floor offices of Dr. Ben Page at 1900 Richmond.

Henderson, who elected trial by judge and jury when he appeared before Judge Harold Alder on April 23, was remanded by Allan until next Monday to fix a date for a preliminary hearing.

A 23-year-old Langford man was given a suspended sentence, six months' probation and 50 hours of community service work after pleading guilty to attempted assault against an ambulance attendant.

Robert Allan Fuller, 2536 Selwyn, was handed the sentence after Joyce Johnston of The Law Centre told the court Fuller thought a sprained thumb was more serious than it was.

Mulligan said Colwood RCMP were called at 2:15 a.m. March 7 by Langford ambulance attendants who attended at Fuller's residence. When police arrived, Mulligan said, the attendants were restraining Fuller in a chair. They told police Fuller was intoxicated when they arrived and stated he couldn't move his thumb. When the attendants began questioning persons in the home, Fuller became agitated and took a swing at attendant Bev Ward.

A $400 fine was levied against a 26-year-old driver who pleaded guilty to dangerous driving.

Kenneth John Murray, 8985 East Saanich, originally pleaded not guilty but changed his plea through defence lawyer Nicholas Lott.

Charges of impaired driving, driving with a blood-alcohol content over .08 and obstructing a peace officer were stayed by Mulligan.

Court was informed a city policeman on a motorcycle spotted Murray's truck in the 2100-block Douglas at about 10:45 p.m., doing about 70 km/h in a 50 km/h zone. The officer activated his emergency equipment but Murray didn't stop, Mulligan said, and during the pursuit Murray went through a stop sign at 50 before going into a slide and hitting a parked car at Johnson. About $700 damage was done to each vehicle and subsequent breath test readings of .12 were obtained, Mulligan stated.

Fined for drinking-driving offences were: 29-year-old John Gilbert McEwen, of Falcon Heights, $1,600, and 28-year-old Richard Arnold Jackson, 1023 Empress, $500.

McEwen, who had previous convictions for driving with a blood-alcohol content over .08 Nov. 1, 1976, and May 22, 1977, in Victoria and was fined $300 each time, was also fined $250 by Judge Fred Green for not having valid insurance on his vehicle.

'Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight'

Jury Excused Until Wednesday

The prosecution and defence summed up Monday in county court in the 17th day of the trial of five men accused of three drug offences.

Judge Peter Millward excused the jury until 10 a.m. Wednesday to prepare his address.

Crown counsel Gordon Macdonald said it was a smooth, well-thought-out plan for the five men to meet the Mexican vessel Toernyn, carrying just over 13 tons of marijuana from Colombia, and offload it July 15 in darkness in Shelter Inlet northwest of Tofino.

But one of the defence lawyers, William Deverell, said it was more like the gang that couldn't shoot straight, that the delivery wasn't and couldn't be controlled by the five men but by others and the marijuana was of such poor quality it was almost worthless.

The prosecution called 38 witnesses while the defence elected to call no evidence.

The five men — Garth Clarence Vincent Joseph Sexton, 28, of Vancouver; Ronald Cecil Spurrell, 31, of Surrey; Frederick Charles Scott, 28, of Vancouver; John Mobley Doss, 25, of Dillon, Colorado, formerly of Newfoundland; and Frank Piersanti, 34, an American, are accused of:

Conspiring together and with 14 named but unindicted alleged co-conspirators and persons unknown, in the county of Victoria and elsewhere in B.C., to import marijuana between April 1 and July 16, 1978;

Importing marijuana in the county of Nanaimo between April 1 and July 16, 1978;

Possession of marijuana in the county of Nanaimo July 15, 1978, for the purpose of trafficking.

Macdonald told the jury all it has to be satisfied about on the conspiracy allegation is that the accused men agreed to a common plan to import 13 tons of marijuana.

He pointed to evidence that a couple of Canadians approached Apaculco businessman Nilo Batista, owner of the Toernyn, to rent his boat and that in collaboration with agents of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, who described Batista as a co-operating individual, the vessel was equipped with satellite-tracking devices and sailed from Costa Rica to Colombia and then to Shelter Inlet.

The RCMP conducted surveillance which revealed various comings and goings on two vessels, the Weatherly and Sunfish, which he said were preparations in anticipation of the northbound boat.

He said the Weatherly was clearly being prepared for no other reason than offloading the Toernyn and evidence pointed to Spurrell, Sexton and Doss readying themselves and the enterprise to receive the marijuana when it came to Canada.

A man named Trainor bought a rifle on the mainland and it ended up at a campsite at the mouth of the Megin River where Sexton and Scott and two other men, Kevin Gushue and Philip Ward, were found.

He described the campsite as an observation point for Obstruction Island, on the other side of Shelter Inlet, where 439 bales of marijuana were found.

He noted that zodiac boats were littered with marijuana which was also on the deck of the Weatherly.

Macdonald said all five men participated in the unloading and to do that they had to be involved in advance.

The fingerprints of Ward and Sexton were found on the Weatherly, he said, and Spurrell, Piersanti and Doss were arrested on that boat. Spurrell had bought the outboard motors which were found on Obstruction Island, he said.

Macdonald said a conspiracy means only an agreement to do something and that the second count dealt with the actual importing. He said Sexton, Scott, Doss and Spurrell were a party to the offence of importing.

As far as the third count was concerned, he said there was an abundance of marijuana and he asked the jury to return a finding that Sexton, Scott, Doss and Spurrell were in possession of marijuana.

Patrick Sweeney, counsel for Piersanti, said the only evidence against his client on the remaining charge against him was that he was arrested on the Weatherly with 10 others and taken to Victoria and that an analysis of his shoes showed traces of marijuana.

Felix Reuben, counsel for Scott, said his client was not mentioned in wiretapped phone conversations and wasn't seen in police surveillance and the main case against him was that he was found at the Megin River campsite.

He noted that the analyst who found traces of marijuana in clothing said it was so small it couldn't be seen by a microscope.

Peter Hart, counsel for Spurrell, said in a conspiracy charge the evidence of one person cannot be used against another unless the other person adopts what is said.

He asked the jury to find that there was a conspiracy to import marijuana but it was by Batista, Toernyn captain Maurice Pereira, special agent Ernest Staples of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, Ward and Patrick Joseph Murphy.

If there was any charge against his client, he said, it was that he possessed marijuana or that he conspired to possess marijuana or that he conspired to traffic in marijuana, but not conspiracy to import or actual importing.

But as to the third charge, he said the prosecution may well have laid the wrong charge because what happened was more consistent with an agreement to possess or an agreement to traffic.

Sexton, who defended himself, said it was a police-controlled delivery and the five men had nothing to do with it.

The conspiracy was between police officials, he said, and noting that the Toernyn entered U.S. waters on two occasions, commented that it was a case of entrapment which is a full defence in the U.S. but is not recognized in Canada.

Hughes Aide Victim Of Treaty Loophole?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The lawyer for former Howard Hughes aide John Meier said Monday his client may be the victim of a loophole in the Canada-United States extradition treaty.

John Taylor, who is fighting Meier's impending extradition to Utah to face a charge of obstructing justice, also said the equality of the treaty has been destroyed by court rulings on Meier's case.

Taylor said in an interview the court rulings on Meier were based on a clause added to the extradition treaty in 1976. The clause, he said, was designed to cover previously unspecified crimes such as stock fraud and movement of stolen vehicles across the border.

"The courts have said the clause may apply to Meier, but we say it was never intended to cover him. It was very poorly worded, and was intended to cover some weak spots in the treaty."

Western, Premier to Merge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Western Broadcasting Co. Ltd. and Premier Cablevision Ltd. will form a new company through the transfer of shares, Western president J. R. Peters said Monday.

Peters told a news conference that an application has been filed with the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission which will be heard at a commission hearing here June 19. Peters would be president of the new company.

The application has been filed on behalf of Frank A. Griffiths, a founder and chairman of Western Broadcasting, and Sydney W. Welsh, founder and chairman of Premier Cablevision.

The application seeks permission to transfer the shares in Western and Premier owned by the principals and their families, together with shares in Western, owned by its co-founder Walter S. Owen and his family, and the shares in Premier, owned by its co-founder, Garth Pither and his associates, into a new company.

Both companies have attracted interest of eastern investors, Peters said.

"The principals of both companies believe it is in the best interest of the Canadian broadcasting industry that the control of these companies remains in Western Canada," said Peters. "Our proposal to the CRTC addresses this problem and we believe is both timely and clearly in the public interest."

He said fear has been expressed that control of the two companies would slip into eastern hands and the new proposal would remove that problem.

The new company would be West Coast-based and be of a size and financial capability comparable to many existing broadcasting companies in Eastern Canada.

Peters said the principals are proposing to pool their shares in a wholly new enterprise which would control both companies. The new company will acquire 55 per cent of Western from the Griffiths-Owen group and 24.5 per cent of the shares of Premier from the Welsh-Pither group. Because Western Broadcasting itself owns 26 per cent of Premier, the proposed transfer of shares to the new company will give it over 55 per cent of Western and 50.5 per cent of Premier.

He said the new plan will not affect the interests of minority shareholders in either Western or Premier.

Western and Premier commenced operations in Vancouver in the 1950s. Western has grown to one of Canada's largest broadcasting companies, operating AM and FM radio stations in Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg and Hamilton. It owns a half interest in British Columbia Television Broadcasting System Ltd. BCTV operates CHAN-TV in Vancouver and CHEK-TV in Victoria and reaches the rest of the province through a network of more than 100 rebroadcasting stations.

Western also owns controlling interest in Vancouver Canucks of the National Hockey League through majority interest in Northwest Sports Co. Ltd.

Premier Cablevision is B.C.'s largest cable television operation, with cable systems in Vancouver, Victoria and Coquitlam. The company also operates systems in Ontario in Oakville, Camp Borden, Mississauga and parts of metropolitan Toronto, as well as Dublin and Waterford in Ireland.

Wells Cut Off Until Friday

WELLS (CP) — Highways Minister Alex Fraser said Monday it will be at least Friday before a portable bridge can be installed to allow traffic from Wells and Barkerville to move across the Cottonwood River.

The usual route across the river was wiped out Sunday when a flat-bed truck crashed into the side of a 65-metre wooden bridge, taking most of the bridge with it into the river. The driver was not injured.

The bridge was on Highway 26 which connects Wells and Barkerville with Quesnel, about 90 kilometres to the west, but leads only to nearby Bowron Lake in the east.

A logging road has been upgraded to connect the two communities with Strathnaver, just north of Quesnel, but the only vehicles sturdy enough to travel it Monday were four-wheel drives and trucks.

Farm Bodies Slam Report

VERNON (CP) — The British Columbia legislature's select standing committee on agriculture in it's recent final report has done a great disservice to the province, say two provicial farm organizations.

The joint statement released Monday by the B.C. Institute of Agrologists and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture said the fundamental assumptions of the section pertaining to land use deserves no place in the policy of any provincial government.

"Both our organizations are non-partian and it is not our intent to endorse the stand of any political party during this provincial election camapaign," the statement said.

"However after careful study of the committees' recommendations as they pertain to land use questions, we believe the public must be made aware of the seriousness of the implications for the continued agricultural production in the province should these recommendations be adopted as government policy."

The statement said that the continued protection of B.C.'s farm land by the Agricultural Land Reserves Act would be virtually impossible under conditions imposed by the committee.

It said that a recommendation for instituting a "land-use planning commission" that would be charged with planning to provide for all the needs of B.C.'s growing economy, with the choices left to regional or local government, means the commission would be nothing but an advisory body for local government.

"The value of such a move is highly debatable," it said.

HUGH CURTIS
Turns Responsibility Into Results
The Gorge Shoreline

In 1965 the Saanich Gorge, a place of fond vacation and recreational memories for many Victorians, was a public eyesore. The banks were muddy and crumbling, and the surroundings were a tangle of scrubby underbrush.

Today, it's a beautiful shoreline park because Hugh Curtis saw the opportunity and had the determination to go to work to improve the waterway. Now, what was an eyesore is a haven for walkers, joggers and camera buffs. Complete with walkways, landscaped gardens and cement retaining walls it is the pride of the surrounding neighbourhood.

The Gorge Shoreline. Just one more example of a proven record. Of turning responsibility into results.

Hugh Curtis. A record of service in the past. A promise of service in the future.

Toronto

The Toronto stock market rose sharply in active mid-afternoon trading today.

A trading halt continued in shares of Abacus Cities Ltd. and Imperial General Properties Ltd. pending an announcement. Abacus Cities last traded at $1.40 a share and Imperial General at $16.

Trading resumed at noon in shares of Q. M. G. Holdings Ltd. after a halt called Monday. The company said it has deferred $2 million in public financing intended for use in drilling three prospects in Texas. The stock fell 15 cents to 75 cents.

The Toronto Stock Exchange said subdivided common shares of Amax Inc. will be posted for trading at a par value of $1.00 at the opening Friday, replacing the currently listed shares. The board of directors passed a resolution on April 5 which had the effect of subdividing the company's common shares on a three-for-two basis.

The exchange also said new common shares of Interprovincial Pipe Line Ltd. will be posted for trading with a par value of $1.00 at the opening on Monday, May 7, replacing the currently listed A and B shares.

New York

The stock market staged a small rally today, reversing the lower trend of the past three sessions.

The Federal Reserve Board's actions in the money markets Monday tended to confirm analysts' presumption that they decided late last week to push interest rates a bit higher.

But brokers voiced the belief that no extreme credit-tightening was in the offing.

LTV rose ⅜ to $9⅜ in active trading. The company posted a first-quarter profit of $40.5 million against a loss in the like period last year.

Montreal

Prices gained considerably in moderate noontime trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today.

Asbestos Corp. climbed 1¼ at $51, Alcan ¼ at $41¼, Algoma Steel ¼ at $30¼, Dominion Textile ⅜ at $14⅝, Domtar ½ at $24¾, IU International ⅜ at $15¼, Norcen Energy Resources ¼ at $20¾, Northern Telecom ¼ at $44¾, and Royal Bank ¼ at $40¾.

London

The London stock market fell sharply near the close of moderate trading today. The Financial Times index of 30 industrials closed at 537.0, off 14.3. Dealers said the market was reacting to opinion polls which give the Labor party a narrow lead over the Conservatives in the national election campaign.

Oils, banks and industrials weakened while golds were mixed.

Canadian issues gained.

Donald H. Lander

C. O. Hurly

CHRYSLER CANADA LTD.

The board of directors of Chrysler Canada Ltd. announces the election of Donald H. Lander as president and chief executive officer of the company, succeeding C. O. Hurly who has been elected chairman of the board. Mr. Lander, who joined Chrysler Canada Ltd. in 1959 was most recently group vice president—international and president, Chrysler International S.A. Mr. Hurly, whose service with Chrysler Canada Ltd. spans 43 years, has been an officer and director of the company since 1956. He was named president in 1975. Both Mr. Lander and Mr. Hurly continue as vice presidents of Chrysler Corporation.

—VANCOUVER—

Prices were up in moderately-active trading today on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Volume to 11:11 a.m. was 1,544,521 shares.

Austin Investment led trading in the industrials, remaining unchanged at .90 on 5,000. Proflex was unchanged at .11 on 4,000, Canadian Javelin remained steady at $1.67 on 3,448 and Ardiem Industries was unchanged at .17 on 3,000.

Here is an opportunity of a lifetime to obtain a quality strata title suite across from Beacon Hill Park and by the Dallas Road waterfront! Truly a great investment at this low, low price! If you are in the market for a condominium you must inspect these quality units that have been reduced in price to sell fast. These units would be particularly attractive to working couples or singles who appreciate a blend of old world charm and quality workmanship. If you're looking for something unique and pleasantly different, don't pass up this one-time opportunity. Each suite contains its own washer and dryer — dishwasher and garburetor — garbage compactor — range and fridge.

'Sarge' Suffered During Lean Years

NEW YORK (CP) — Ol' Sarge is a renaissance man.

Forget the museums that stash away classical works of the 17th-century period. He hasn't time for arts and letters.

Renaissance to Steve Vickers means the Rangers.

The club has had some lean years, something that brought suffering that was not easy for Vickers to accept.

"I've gone through seven years of it and it hasn't been much fun," says the 28-year-old left winger, known to his clubmates as Sarge.

"But New York has gone through 40 years of frustration — the Rangers — since winning the Stanley Cup. I'm glad to be part of the rejuvenation, the renaissance of the Rangers and it's very encouraging."

Vickers is a steady player, not flashy enough to catch the eyes of some, but able to score 189 goals in seven seasons with the Rangers. His value has been evident in the playoffs.

As one of the Ranger stalwarts along the boards, he has been one of the forecheckers able to help contain the Trottier line of the Islanders, a chore only a handful of clubs outside of the Rangers have been able to do this season.

The two New York teams meet in the third game of their best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final series tonight at Madison Square Garden. The Rangers won the opener 4-1 and lost the second game 4-3 on an overtime goal by Dennis Potvin.

As their intense rivalry heats, much is at stake.

"The Islanders have owned New York for the last four years, but we're not going to quit now, that's for sure," Vickers says. "We've shown 'em we can play them even and we plan to win this series.

The other semi-final, with Montreal Canadiens leading the Bruins 2-0, moves to Boston tonight for a game that will be telecast on the CBC network, starting at 4:30.

"We just have to keep on doing what we're doing," says Boston centre Peter McNabb. "The Canadiens are never lucky. They make the most of their chances."

Both series reume Thursday night.

City Amateur Prize List To Be Increased Greatly

The scales in the City Amateur golf championships are being tipped to favor the greedy this year.

For years, prestige always was considered more important than the prize list. During that time, there has been continuing criticism of the prizes offered in the city tournament.

It reflected in the entry. During the past decade, the entry limit was reached only on one occasion.

It will be interesting to see how district golfers respond to the call this year. Thanks to Jim Taylor, the prize list is going to be increased dramatically for the June 2-3 tournament.

The District Committee welcomed and immediately approved an offer of sponsorship at a meeting last week, and will allocate $1,000 for prizes. Radicon Systems, the company owned by the Uplands vice-captain, will sponsor the event and put up a new trophy. The former championship trophy, put up by Ocean Cement, will be retired.

A boost of prizes in other district tournaments can also be expected.

The increases are the result a a new District Committee policy. In the past, tournaments were operated, financially, on a come-as-you-are basis. The value of prizes usually were decided by the entry fee total.

Now, however, the District Committee is setting up budgets in advance of each tournament.

On another matter, junior golfers will be less enthusiastic.

The District Committee has passed a motion barring juniors from competing in the Inter-Club League matches for the Willie Park Driver.

The issue was debated at length but the main argument in favor of the motion was that the juniors "have their own inter-club league."

So do the Vancouver Island seniors, but no attempt was made to bar the over-55 golfers from the Willie Park event.

Another class, the professional, is restricted. Only one pro can play on the six-man team at one time.

Like the other language, the Inter-Club League is turning up with exceptions to everything.

Lost is sight of the fact that the best six players, in theory, should be on hand to represent each club.

The restriction of professionals bothers me, but not to the same extent as the ban against juniors. The golfers are saying and doing exactly what operators of Canada's major junior hockey teams wish they could say and do: The Wayne Gretzkys, Mark Howes, Rod Ramages and etcetera can not play professional hockey because they have a league for their own age group.

It's been a while, but the professionals are dominating the Island Open. Five of the eight survivors are pros, and four — Bob Beauchemin, Bruce Rands, Bob Hogarth and Bill Penny — are bracketed in the top half.

John Morgan, the other pro, is lodged in the bottom bracket with defending champion Dave Mick and the Harper Brothers, Ian and Bruce.

Mick, incidentally, is one of six Canadian amateurs who has been invited to play in the Canadian Open. Somewhat surprisingly, Doug Roxburgh, a former Canadian Amateur champion, did not get an invite.

Selection was based on scoring in a number of tournaments and Mick wound up with a better stroke average than Roxburgh.

Mick plans to go to Glen Abbey.

Island Reps Watched

WEST VANCOUVER — Two squads from the Vancouver Island Women's Field Hockey Association came up with a mixed bag of success during the B.C. senior selection tournament at the weekend.

Island I was the most successful with two wins and two losses in four matches while Island II finished at 1-2-1.

Island I beat Vancouver II 3-0 and topped Allsorts of Vancouver 1-0 but suffered losses to Vancouver I (3-0) and Burnaby I (1-0).

Steph Donay scored twice to spark the win over Vancouver II and Lynn Calloway added a single. Donay scored the lone goal in the victory over Allsorts.

Pam Kozak scored three goals to lead Island II to a 9-1 victory over West Vancouver. Sue Morris added two goals and singles were fired by Penni Botham, Dianne Mahy and Linda Foley. Mahy scored the lone goal for a 1-1 tie with Vancouver II and the squad dropped a 5-0 decision to Okanagan and a 1-0 decision to Burnaby II.

All teams were under close watch by officials who have to select players to attend a provincial camp later this month.

Officials also announced the junior selections to attend the camp following a tournament April 21-22.

Picked from the Island were Heather Benson, Cathy Cavin, Kim Guy, Dana Harpham, Jey Hills, Gail Hoskin, Kerrie Hodgkinson, Cynthia McAlpine, Kelly Rimmer, Janet Ruest and Linda Shiplack.

Victoria Rowers Earn Honors

Pat Walter and Bruce Ford of Victoria City Rowing Club joined several newcomers from Claremont High School on the winners' list at regattas on Quamichan Lake and Brentwood Bay at the weekend.

Walter and Ford combined to win the elite men's doubles at the Maple Bay Regatta on Quamichan and Walter added a victory in the elite singles and set a record of five minutes, 28.7 seconds to win the elite singles 1,500-metre race in the Brentwood College Regatta.

Sheelaugh Lean and Alix Peden topped a stong showing by Claremont at Quamichan. They combined to win the senior "B" doubles while Lean topped the senior "B" and senior "C" singles and Peden partnered Gail Stringer, Kathryn Sayle and Maeve Lydon to a win in the senior "C" quads.

In the men's competition, Doug Moffat won senior "C" singles laurels and combined with Tony Theriault to capture the "B" doubles and with Theriault, Vaughan Roberts and Rich Goodall to win the "C" quads.

Lisa Roy of Capital City Rowing Club won the elite women's singles and teammed up with Janice Mason to win the doubles.

Brentwood College won the varsity eight race in its own regatta and earned top spot in the seven-club competition.

Green Lake of Washington was second and was followed by Lakeside of Washington, Shawnigan Lake Boys' School, Claremont, VCRC and West Vancouver High School.

Don Baylor's Bat Boomed In April

By Associated Press

April was a hot month for Don Baylor — figuratively speaking, of course. And his figures include 28 runs batted in.

The California Angels' outfielder simply tore through April and ripped up the American League record book in the process.

Continuing to produce in machine-like fashion, Baylor delivered a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night to provide the Angels with a 2-1 victory over New York Yankees.

Baylor's RBI broke Joe Rudi's mark of 27 set in 1977. The major league mark for RBIs in the season's first month is 29, set by Ron Cey in 1977.

"I wasn't thinking about the record — although I should have been, I guess," noted Baylor. "I had an opportunity to go after Cey's record about 10 days ago. I had the opportunity to drive in runs from third base with no outs a couple of times and didn't do it. It's like the 99 RBIs I had last year — I'd rather do it early than later."

Baylor not only drove in the winning run, but was partly responsible for California's initial run. He broke up a no-hit bid by Ed Figueroa with a single in the fifth and eventually scored on Carney Lansford's base hit.

In another American League game, Baltimore Orioles edged Seattle Mariners 8-7 in 10 innings.

Eddie Murray's third RBI of the game, a bases-loaded grounder in the 10th, lifted Baltimore past Seattle. Billy Smith led off the Baltimore 10th with a single but was forced at second on Al Bumbry's grounder to third base. Rich Dauer then singled and Ken Singleton walked to load the bases, setting up Murray's game-winning grounder.

Irish Healthy

Victoria Shamrocks will open their season on a relatively healthy note Wednesday at Memorial Arena.

Chris Hall, who suffered a shoulder injury, will be the only player out of action when the Irish take on Nanaimo Timbermen in the Western Lacrosse Association opener at 8 p.m.

Coach Bill Munroe has a choice of three players — Bill Marechek, Mike Yeager or Andy Reid — to fill in for Hall.

Other returnees scheduled to dress are goaltender Larry Smeltzer, backup Scott Marshall, Gerry Cadwallader, Norm Baker, Ranjit Dillon, Larry Bell, Danny Green, Joe McCrea, Charn Dhillon, Dave Lowdon, Jerry Kustaski, Dennis Somner, Art Webster, Dave Thomson, Rick Baker, Ivan Thompson and Jim Gow.

Craig Robinson, the newly-acquired star from Fergus, Ont., will also dress.

Perry Named Most Valuable

CALGARY (CP) — The two Western Hockey League championship finalists, Portland Winter Hawks and Brandon Wheat Kings, each collared two of six individual player awards announced Monday.

Portland's Perry Turnbull, a leftwinger with 70 goals and 118 points, was named the league's most valuable player, and the Winter Hawks' Keith Brown was chosen top defenceman. Brown, with 11 goals and 85 assists, finished second in scoring for blueliners. Last year's rookie of the year, he was the only repeat winner in this year's awards.

The Wheat Kings' Rick Knickle picked up the award for top goaltender, with a 3.16 goals-against average, seven percentage points ahead of team-mate Scott Olson. Dunc McCallum, who paced behind the bench as Brandon finished on top of the regular season standings, was named coach of the year.

Calgary Wranglers' Kelly Kisio edged Lethbridge Broncos' Duane Sutter for rookie of the year honors. Kisio, a centre, scored 60 goals and 121 points, good for a sixth-place tie in the league scoring. He was also captain of the Wranglers.

'Irreparable Harm' Claimed As Male Student Wins Suit To Play With Girls' Squad

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A federal judge ruled today that a male high school senior was unconstitutionally barred from the girls volleyball team at his school and ordered that he be allowed to play.

Chief Judge Raymond J. Pettine's ruling cited U.S. District Court testimony about Donald Gomes's limited athletic ability and the unlikely prospect of males taking over female sports.

He said the six-foot senior was barred from the high school team only because of his sex, and would suffer "irreparable harm" if not allowed to play.

An official of the Rhode Island Interscholastic League said the ruling will be appealed.

"Ultimately, if we lose, I think it's going to be devastating," said the Rev. Robert C. Newbold, the league's executive secretary. "I think a lot of boys who can't make the boys' teams will try out for the girls' teams."

New Council 'Very Flexible'

TORONTO (CP) — A new Crown corporation to aid, with fewer government strings attached, Canada's participation in national and international amateur sports was announced Monday by Iona Campagnolo, federal secretary of state for fitness and amateur sport.

Campagnolo, presenting a government policy paper entitled Partners in Pursuit of Excellence, called the Sport Council a "very flexible Crown corporation" that will be a step toward "taking govenment out of sport."

But some amateur sport officials said the Liberal government will continue dictating administration and financing — only differently — if returned to power in the May 22 general election.

Campagnolo said that within a year, a sports congress comprising representatives of interested national sport governing bodies and the new Sport Council would effect replacement of the fitness and amateur sport branch of Health and Welfare Canada.

"The major, immediate advantage of the council will be its much greater flexibility, its heightened responsiveness to sport needs, its relative freedom within accepted parameters, to apply flexible personnel and financial administration practices, and its possible consolidation of organizations serving sport under a single umbrella," the minister said.

The paper calls on business to give more money to individual sports events and general sports funds.

Campbell Swings Hot Bat

Warren Campbell boosted his Pan-American Games iances Monday.

The Victoria infielder smashed two singles and a vo-run homer to lead Orange to a 4-0 victory over hite in the opening game of a Pan-Am men's softball ials team intra-squad doubleheader at Royal Athletic ark.

Orange also won the second game, 5-2.

A total of 12 players from across the country are in ictoria to try for four spots on the Games team which ill centre around 14 players from Canadian-champion ictoria Budgets.

Campbell and Mike Taaffe, both of whom are trying to iake the Budgets' team, don't get automatic spots on the Pan Am squad because they didn't play for Budgets last season.

Campbell's homer capped a three-run rally against Claude Lafleur of Gatineau, Que., in the third inning.

Bob Walton of Budgets started things off with a two-out home run and John Green followed with a triple before Campbell came up with the big blast.

Rob Guenter of Saskatoon and Cliff Bishop of Winnipeg combined for a two-hitter for the victory.

Taaffe came up with two hits in the second game and pitcher Mark Smith was stung for four of the Orange runs after he came in during the fourth inning.

The camp continued today and another doubleheader is scheduled for 7 tonight at Royal Athletic.

"If you want to know how you're going to make your first million, it'll cost you another five bucks."

Daniels Drills Three Triples

Diane Daniels bashed out three straight triples Monday to help VI 90 to a 9-2 victory over Island Dryco Breakers in a Victoria Senior Women's Softball League game at Hyacinth Park.

Sandy Milliken threw a six-hitter to pick up the pitching victory.

In another game, ptcher Sharon Ferrill finished off with a no-hit effort after relieving Shirley Winter in the fourth inning as Victoria Pirates edged Esquimalt Combos, 5-4.

Sherry Scotney and Pam Porter helped Pirates at the plate, getting four hits in five turns at bat.

Sam Britts Signs Three-Year Pact

VANCOUVER (CP) — Import linebacker Sam Britts has signed a three-year contract with British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League.

Britts, 29, joined the Lions last season in a trade with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. He played all 16 regular-season games after beating out Charles Anthony for the starting position.

Mark Howe's Injury Blow for Whalers

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — An injury to Mark Howe has taken some of the wind out of the sails of New England Whalers as they prepare for tonight's fourth game of their World Hockey Association semi-final against Edmonton Oilers.

The Whalers snapped a four-month winless streak against the Oilers Sunday night with a 4-1 victory. But while they narrowed the Edmonton lead to 2-1 in the best-of-seven series, they may have received a mortal blow in the third period.

Howe, the club's leading scorer, suffered fractured ribs when he was heavily checked by the Oilers' Brett Callighan. He will be lost for at least the next two games, a team spokesman said Monday.

The clubs return to Edmonton for the fifth game Thursday night.

"It all depends on how fast the ribs can heal and how his tolerance is to pain," said the spokesman.

Howe joins goaltender Al Smith and defenceman Rick Ley on the sidelines with injuries. Smith suffered a groin pull in the second game in Edmonton and will be sidelined for the remainder of the series.

Ley was also hurt in the second game. Playing with a left groin pull, he suffered the same injury on the right side.

Whalers coach Don Blackburn called tonight's game "a must."

"I'm sure the Oilers left Edmonton hoping for a split down here," he said. "We don't want to put them in a position where they can go home and clinch it."

The Oilers won the first two games by a combined score of 15-7.

Oilers coach Glen Sather was cautious Monday about the fourth game.

"You have to treat them with the respect they deserve," he said. "This is becoming a very tough series. Tonight is a big game."

Hockey Winners Score Shutouts

All winners registered shutouts as competition opened last weekend in the Vancouver Island Field Hockey Association's junior boys' league.

Saanich Peninsula Panthers topped Cedar Hill Hawks 2-0 on goals by Mike Basanta and Simon Lightbody, Juan de Fuca Dragons got a tally from David Kitel and fine goaltending from Don Bracewell to beat Esquimalt Eagles 1-0 and Gordon Head Kings defeated Oak Bay Lions on a counter by Andrew Danks.

Victoria Boxer Captures Award

MAPLE RIDGE — Cliff Ballendine became the first Victoria boxer in more than 20 years to win a B.C. junior golden boy title Saturday by beating Brian Shaw of Elk Valley in the finals of the 106-pound class at the B.C. Junior Golden Gloves championships.

Fighting rivals two and three years his senior because no competition was available in his weight and age division, Ballendine outboxed Scott Gallaway of Richmond in the semi-finals.

Another Victorian, Gary Robinson, reached the final of the 132-pound class but lost on a split decision to Curtis Nyuli of Kelowna. Robinson won a special trophy when his bout was judged the best of the two-day event.

John Panke and Malcolm Montgomery of Victoria dropped close semi-final decisions in the 85 and 70-pound classes, respectively.

All the Victoria fighters are members of the Victoria Athletic Boxing Club and are coached by Mike Caird

YOU WANT A PERFORMANCE CAR. BUT CAN YOU HANDLE THE PRICE?
In today's new car market, it's bad enough that so few performance sedans are still available. What's worse is that most of these expensive cars seem to be more at home on a race course than in the hands of the average driver.
Now there's a car that handles as well on the open road as it does on the track. A car you can buy without sacrificing your standards for performance or your standard of living. The Volvo 242 GT.
This very special Volvo includes a fuel injected overhead cam engine, tuned suspension, alloy wheels, four-on-the-floor with overdrive and other features you associate with fine performance.
But this GT also has one element of handling and performance neglected by most— predictability. Which means you don't have to be a race car driver to know what your car is going to do at all times. The Volvo 242 GT is designed to respond with agility in almost any driving situation—with an end result you can learn to expect, rather than pray for.
Even if you're not the type to drive this kind of car to its limits, you can if you want to (or have to). And all the safety, comfort and reliability Volvos are renowned for will accompany you through every twisting turn and down every straightaway.
So, before you buy your next car, come in and really test drive a new Volvo 242 GT. Then, once you've experienced first hand what true performance can mean, ask yourself which you need most: a car that gives you an edge on the open road, or one that won't leave your budget in the dust… or both. Young Rider Ties Record With Six Wins

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ray Creighton, a 21-year-old apprentice jockey from Libby, Mont., won six races on eight mounts Monday at Exhibition Park to equal an all-time record.

Creighton finished second and third in his other races. The output jumped him into first place in the jockey standings with 18 wins, one more than Brian Johnson, who begins a three-day suspension on Wednesday.

Creighton's performance equaled a mark set by Ken Coppernoll in 1951 and tied by Chris Loseth in 1976. They both had six wins on eight mounts. Jim Dailey had six winners in 10 races in 1969.

Creighton brought Tompian's Tim from last place in the five-horse feature to win the $25,000 claiming event by 1½ lengths over Hesa Thief.

Creighton, 22 next Saturday, began his riding career last year and finished with 28 winners in 259 mounts.

Cauthen Seventh In French Debut

PARIS (AP) — American jockey Steve Cauthen's French debut was unsuccessful Sunday as he finished seventh aboard English-trained Hawaiian Sound in the $185,000 Prix Ganay at Longchamp Race Track.

Button Victory

Royal Colwood partners Vic Painter and Mike Bartko turned back a challenge by George Bigelow and Jake Peters to retain possession of the Victoria District senior golf buttons, defeating the Victoria Golf Club pair 4 and 2 in a match played Monday at the Uplands course.

Wilt Follows Rival by Five Years

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Seven-footer Wilt Chamberlain was inducted into basketball's Hall of Fame Monday, five years after his bitter National Basketball Association rival, Bill Russell, was named to the hall.

"Being elected means more to me that just being a great player," said the former Philadelphia and Los Angeles superstar. "It's the honor of being identified with all the greats of the game — people I've admired all my life."

Chamberlain, 42, was the lone NBA player among seven Hall of Fame inductees chosen by the Hall of Fame selection committee. The others included the winningest coach in college basketball, DePaul's Ray Meyer. In 37 years at the Illinois university, he has won 597 games.

Others in the 12th annual enshrinement were former coaches Edgar Hickey of Creighton, John McClendon of Tennessee State, Pete Newell, who directed the California team that won the 1959 NCAA title, and the late Justin (Sam) Barry of Southern California; and referee James Enright of Chicago.

Hall of Famers attending the ceremony included former NBA stars Bob Cousy of Boston Celtics and Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, but not Russell, the Celtics star and one-time coach who made his entry in 1974. He and Chamberlain, who ended his 14-year pro career in 1973 with Los Angeles, were constant rivals.

Chamberlain, who flew to Springfield from Australia where he was promoting a rock 'n roll concert, has the most NBA career points, the highest per-game average in a season and for a career and holds game, season and career rebound marks.

Besides promoting rock concerts, he appears in television commercials and is a coach and player in the International Volleyball Association.

Meyer, 65, the only active coach in the group, directed his team this season to the NCAA semi-finals.

"Sure, I've won awards before, but this is the epitome," said Meyer. "Before the season started, I figured winning 16-18 games would be a great year. Then, to make the final four . . . it has to be the most exciting year of my life.

"Even if I had won the NCAA championship this year, I wasn't going to get out. I love to coach, and sitting around the house would kill me."

At the ceremony in the hall, on the campus of Springfield College where basketball was started in 1891, were NBA commissioner and Springfield native Larry O'Brien, and coaches Dean Smith of North Carolina, Ned Wulk of Arizona State, and Bill Foster of Duke, members of the hall's board of trustees.

Canadians Win

SEOUL, South Korea (Reuter) — Canada defeated Bolivia 84-36 today for its second win in as many starts at the women's world basketball championships.

Silvia Sweeney of Montreal led the Canadian victory with 20 points and Bev Smith of Salmon Arm added 16. Chris Critelli of St. Catharines, Ont., scored 11 and Sharon Douglas of Regina had eight.

Victory left the Canadians, 2-0, on top of the Group A standings in preliminary-round play. The Netherlands and South Korea were next at 1-1 and Bolivia last at 0-2.

Defending-champion Brazil led the Group B standings after beating Japan 57-55 in another match today while Australia, a 79-76 winner over Italy, topped Group C.

Canada's next faces the Netherlands on Wednesday.

Forest Blanked

LONDON (CP) — An 89th-minute goal by John Richards gave Wolverhampton Wanderers a 1-0 win over Nottingham Forest in an English League First Division soccer game Monday.

Only the brilliance of Peter Shilton, England's international goalkeeper, kept Wolverhampton from winning by a bigger margin.

It was only Forest's third defeat of the season but left the defending league champions seven points behind leading Liverpool with five games remaining.

Black Series a Winner

Scott's World

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — Ken Howard, a king-sized blond Caucasian, is the star of The White Shadow, the only dramatic television series on the air dealing seriously with the black experience in urban America.

Howard, six-foot-six and 200 pounds, plays a basketball coach in a ghetto school with a predominantly black enrolment and staff.

Miraculously, the series avoids black-white cliches, sentimentality and idealized liberal polemics in getting its message across. It is also free of violence and hyped dramatics.

Howard must be credited with much of what The White Shadow represents. The series was his idea to begin with.

A veteran of two unsuccessful series, Manhunter and Adam's Rib, the big guy was a basketball flash at Long Island's Manhassett High School and a varsity star at Amherst.

A couple of years ago Ken was bemoaning the low quality of weekly television fare when a friend suggested he do something about it.

"I came up with the idea of an ex-professional basketball player becoming coach of a largely black team," Howard said. "I took the idea to (producer) Bruce Paltrow, the husband of Blythe Danner, my co-star in Adam's Rib.

"Bruce picked up on the format right away and built it into its present form.

"The basketball coach isn't a great white liberal knight. But our stories manage to bring more weight to bear on racial problems than any other TV show has ever done. We go as far as network restrictions allow us."

"I believe 'The White Shadow' does a lot for basketball and represents blacks more honestly than any other series on the air.

Gum Caused Mine Explosion?

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — A United Mine Workers Union executive said Monday a young miner told him two days after the Feb. 24 explosion in No. 26 Colliery at Glace Bay, N.S., that he had seen a mine supervisor putting a wad of gum over the head of the methane-gas detector for that part of the mine.

John Madden, president of UMW Local 4520, which represents miners at No. 26 Colliery, was testifying during the Elstrom Inquiry into the disaster. The public inquiry, headed by Roy Elstrom, head of the federal labor department's occupational health and safety branch in Ottawa, began last week and will resume Wednesday.

The explosion killed 10 miners immediately and two died several weeks later in the burns unit of the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax.

Methane detectors measure the amount of the explosive gas in the air and automatically sound an alarm if they are excessive.

Madden said he advised the young miner to come before the inquiry with his story. He declined to reveal the miner's name, but said he hopes he would be among about 50 witnesses expected at the inquiry.

Madden also testified that, about five years ago, the Cape Breton Development Corp. (Devco) had started to clear up the airways and improve ventilation in No. 26 Colliery, but then stopped the project.

Doug Shield, the expert from Britain's National Coal Board who investigated the disaster, testified that a mechanical coal shearer cut into stone, producing a spark that caused the explosion.

Reginald MacIntyre, production supervisor at the mine, said all was in order at the mine before the explosion. Ventilation and gas readings were normal, he said.

MacIntyre said the miners were as good as any who ever worked the pit and he had complete confidence in them.

Romania Signs Candu Contract

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and Romania formally concluded financing arrangements Monday for the sale of four 600-megawatt Candu nuclear reactors to the East European country.

The financing agreement of up to $1 billion U.S. was arranged by the Export Development Corporation (EDC), a Crown agency, and the Bank of Montreal, acting as managers for a consortium of banks.

John MacDonald, EDC chairman and president, said the deal is the largest long-term loan supporting a single export sale from Canada. The agency is a commercial enterprise that provides loans to support export sales to allow Canadian firms to compete internationally.

The sale was announced in December by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the Crown agency that markets the heavy water nuclear power plants.

The project is expected to create more than 33,000 man-years of work for 15 major suppliers across Canada.

Romania is planning construction of up to 16 nuclear power stations in the next 20 years designed eventually to replace existing oil and coal-fired electrical geneeating stations.

The signing ceremony was attended by Romania's ambassador to Canada, Barbu Popescu, F. H. McNeil, chairman of the Bank of Montreal, Ross Campbell, president of AECL and other representatives.

Canada is to supply engineering and other services, equipment and materials including the building, startup and training of Romanian personnel.

Stoppage Lost Time Rises 14%

OTTAWA (CP) — There was a 14-per-cent increase in time lost through strikes and lockouts in January compared with December.

The department of labor released its monthly statistics on work stoppages Monday showing 537,240 man-days lost in January through labor difficulties.

There were 139 work stoppages in the month involving 35,976 workers. This compared with a December total of 144 stoppages which cost the economy 471,110 man-days of work.

HOW TO GET FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS AND A LITTLE HOUSEWARMING GIFT FROM A COMPLETE STRANGER.

It sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?

It all started with a little innocent house-hunting one weekend.

And all of a sudden, you're on the verge of making the biggest purchase decision of your life, up to now.

If it's your first home, you're probably going to need more money than you've ever seen, let alone thought of borrowing.

Or, if you're trading your present home for a bigger one, you're probably slightly amazed at what it costs to move up a few notches in the housing market these days.

Even if you're simply renovating, or putting an addition onto your present home, the amount of cash you need is still enough to make you swallow hard!

Anyhow, to swing your deal, you need a mortgage. For twenty, forty, sixty, who knows how many thousands of dollars.

But since you read this ad, you pop some small change into a phone and call the mortgage people at Royal Trust.

The voice on the other end listens to the details of the deal. Asks a few questions. Doesn't even sound surprised when you mention that shocking amount of money you need. Just come in and sign the papers.

And the same voice will probably call you back, generally within a day or so, and tell you all's well. The money's yours.

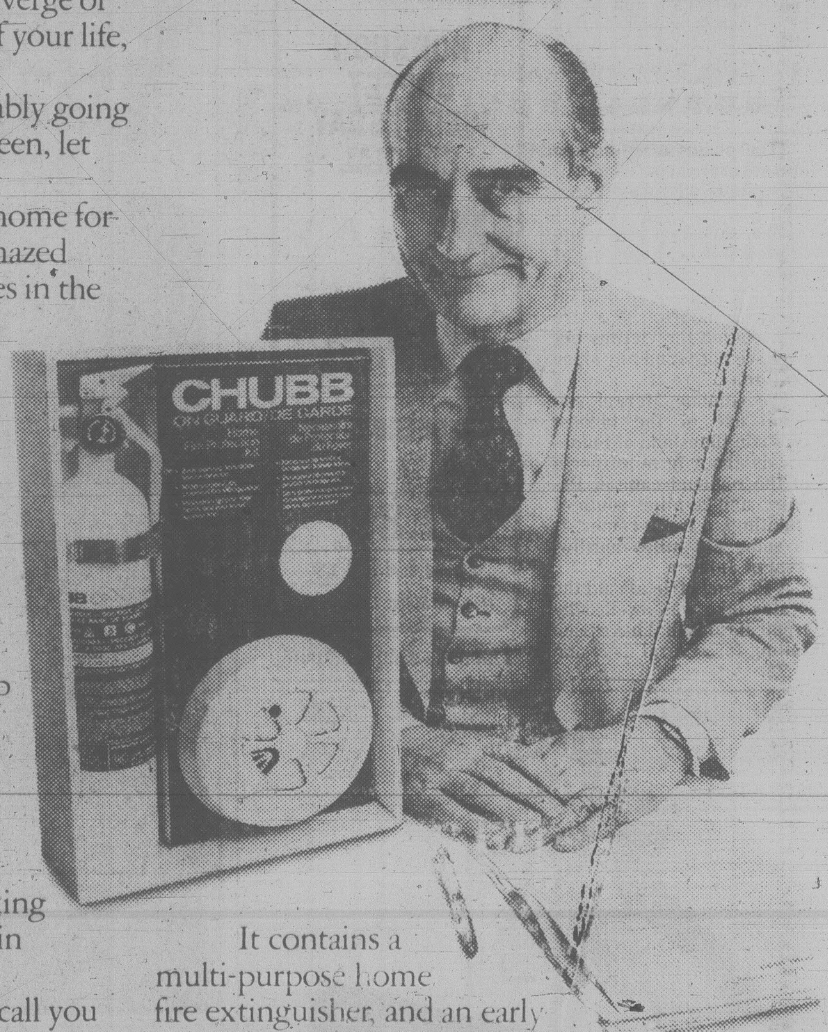
You'll be delighted.

And interestingly enough, the voice on the other end of the line will sound delighted, too!

About that little housewarming gift.

As a small extra incentive to talk to Royal Trust about mortgages this spring, we've arranged a special housewarming gift for each new mortgage customer.

Once your mortgage is advanced, the people at your Royal Trust office (by now, no longer strangers!) would like you to have a Chubb Home Fire Protection Kit.



It contains a multi-purpose home fire extinguisher, and an early warning smoke detector.

And though we hope you'll never have to use either, we're sure you'll sleep easier knowing they're on hand if you need them.

But all that comes later.

Right now, whether a mortgage is in your future or you're just thinking about shopping for a new home, why not break the ice.

Just call, or drop in to your nearest Royal Trust office and ask to speak to the mortgage expert.

Or have a chat with a Royal Trust Realtor.

We're sure you'll warm to each other right away.

Fishermen Fuel Pinch

SEATTLE (AP) — The commercial salmon season opened today with at least three Oregon marine diesel fuel dealers without fuel and short supplies on the South Washington Coast.

Upwards of 10,000 West Coast troll boats were expected to head to sea, about one-third of them out of Oregon ports, provided they have fuel.

The biggest oil depot in Astoria, Jim Parker's Union Oil facility, ran out of fuel Saturday.

In Charleston, Bob Hillstrom's Union Oil dock, one of the biggest operators in that area, ran out last week. So did Hallmark Fisheries.

In Washington state, one Illwaco dealer said the situation was touchy, but boats were still being supplied.

Union Oil's South Bend facility nearly ran out, but was given an emergency shipment through the state's allotment system, the company's Ilwaco dealer said.

Among Oregon's major fishing ports, only Newport appeared to have adequate supplies.

Dealers speculated that most of the salmon fishermen would have enough fuel to head to sea, but said they couldn't forecast what the long-term outlook would be.

Bob Hudson, business manager of the All-Coast Fishermen's Marketing Association, said some Newport and Charleston processors have agreed to pay $2, $2.30 and $2.60 a pound for small, medium and large salmon. This is up from $1.50, $1.85 and $2.25 at the end of the 1978 season.

Fishermen said if fuel supplies are not forthcoming soon, the shortage could cripple Oregon's more than 3,700 registered salmon troll boats.

Parker said that oil firms cannot allocate fuel to dealers on the basis of past shipments because the fishing fleet moves around constantly.

Energy officials — federal and state — have put charter operators, sports fishermen and pleasure boat operators at the end of the priority list, below commercial fishermen, logging and agricultural operations.

S. Africa Eyes End To Racial Laws

CAPE TOWN (AP) — A government-appointed commission today urged the scrapping of South African labor laws which advocate racial segregation and discrimination on the job.

The report, by a 14-man commission, was introduced in parliament for immediate debate.

The recommendation would pull down one of the basic building blocks of South Africa's official policy of apartheid.

At present, labor laws dictate segregated on-the-job facilities for whites and non-whites, reservation of skilled jobs for whites only, higher pay scales for whites and no recognition of non-white labor unions.

Sadat Raps Saudis, Backs Israel

United Press International

President Anwar Sadat today charged that Saudi Arabia had used influence and money to engineer a collective Arab break of diplomatic relations with Egypt.

In a stunning, no-holds-barred attack on Saudi rulers, Sadat said they were motivated by a desire to assume the leadership of the Arab world and had also succumbed to pressure from anti-treaty radicals like Syria, Iraq and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"This is something for which they will have to pay dearly," Sadat told a May Day rally at the Red Sea mining center of Safaga, about 300 miles southeast of Cairo.

In the same breath, Sadat assured Israel that the hostile Arab reaction to the treaty will not deflect Egypt from honoring all its commitments under the treaty, including the normalization of relations with Israel after a first-stage nine-month Israeli troop withdrawal from Sinai.

Refering to the 16 Arab countries with which Egypt has no diplomatic ties at present, Sadat said: "Some of them broke off in a gesture of courtesy to Saudi Arabia. The others were paid the price by Saudi Arabia. Countries from both catgories sent word to me about this and asked for understanding.

"Are they (Saudi rulers) out to frighten Egypt so it will retreat (from the treaty)?" Sadat asked.

"No, we are not going to be frightened and we shall normalize relations with Israel," he said in a defiant tone.

"I tell Saudi Arabia: Egypt will not go back. The peace process will not stop under any circumstances. The business of severing relations will not impede us. It will not affect Egypt's prestige, leadership, strength and economy," Sadat said.

"It is true we have to make new calculations," Sadat said in an apparent reference to the cutoff in Arab economic aid decided last month as part of sanctions slapped on Egypt by anti-treaty Arabs gathered in Baghdad.

Sadat said the collective Arab aid Egypt lost was $500 million decided at the 1974 Rabat summit conference and about $140 million decreed at a 1967 summit in Khartoum.

"One project of our own can make up for this," he said.

Lake Bursts, Towns Drown

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — A lake swelled by tropical rains burst out of a volcanic crater and belched down a torrent of swirling water and gigantic boulders that killed nearly 80 people, local authorities said today.

A volcanic gas explosion was initially blamed for breaking the banks Monday of the lake atop the 9,000-foot Gunung Merapi volcano in the Indonesian island of Sumatra. But local officials later said rains caused the disaster.

Local newspapers put the confirmed death toll at 79 but officials expected it to climb because of the savage fury of the water torrent, which killed people as far as 20 miles away from the volcano.

"The bodies were broken into several parts," one witness said. "It was horrible."

"We started the rescue operation Monday night, but at night we could not do much," said local official Datuk Bandaro. "We are still looking for victims but we have not found any since yesterday."

The Gunung Merapi volcano, one of the highest peaks in the island of Sumatra, is about 70 miles north of the regional capital, Padang, and 20 miles south of Bukitingi, a trade center. It is some 650 miles northwest of Jakarta.

A Padang official said the crater lake was swelled by tropical rains that have been falling for several days and burst through the wall of rocks and earth surrounding it Monday.

The waters rushed down the slopes, carrying tons of mud, rocks and trees and destroying at least five villages and small towns. Victims were crushed by boulders weighing as much as one ton or were washed away, the official said.

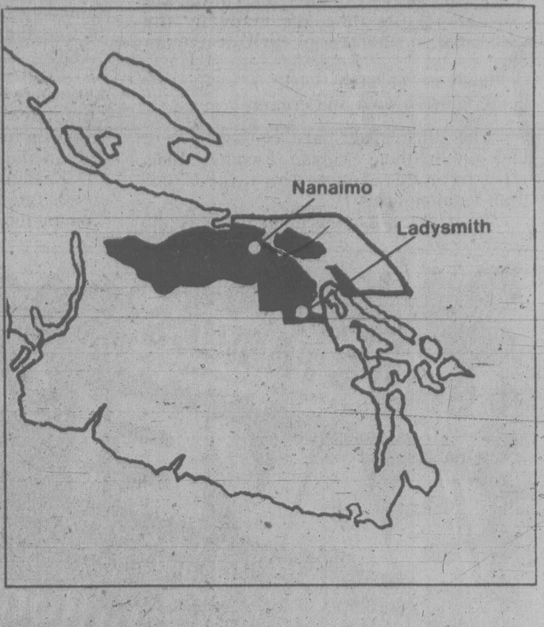
Can Boom Town Stand the Bang?



NANAIMO — On the surface the hub city is Boom Town Vancouver Island.

Its urban northward sprawl as inevitable as the return of the migrating tourist in search of the Pacific salmon.

Sharing the northbound four-lane strand with industry and scrapyards are several major new shopping complexes which seem as common in Nanaimo today as the simple roadside market a few years ago.

A new Bay will be the bastion for a major new centre that boasts 75 other shops. It will open next spring.

The mall is north of Long Lake, which only a few years ago would have been too far out of town for any business, let alone a major shopping centre.

Closer to town, Woolco is building a new store that will be the key to another new mall.

Not to be left out, the existing Northbrook Mall is undergoing a major facelift.

The Harewood shopping centre is another new complex. Others including the major downtown Harbor Park centre have undergone expansion.

And another new one is in the works.

But all is not as rosy as it appears, according to Dave Stupich, the NDP candidate for Nanaimo in the May 10 provincial election.

He wonders where all the customers are going to come from.

"Who are they going to sell to? The people who work in the other shopping centres?"

Housing construction isn't even close to keeping pace, and Stupich questions if the population base is sufficient to support all the new commercial development.

But the Socreds under candidate Tom Humble are riding high on the boomtown image. And they feel the evident prosperity is proof that the area is really a Socred stronghold despite its image of being NDP territory. They hope to prove that feeling election day.

But the prosperity, real or imagined, seems to have given the city a certain complacency about the pending provincial election.

On the downtown streets, questions about the provincial campaign and local candidates and issues are usually met with blank stares or uncaring shrugs.

Mr. Mike's didn't consider running a hamburger poll this time. The young woman behind the counter says there's not much interest in the election.

"I guess Dave (Stupich) is doing such a good job, no one cares."

Even in the barber shops where political debate used to share the billing with the Stanley Cup playoffs, politics is seldom an issue.

Laura Sheldon at the His Hairstyle and Barber says a few of the older customers still talk a bit of politics.

But the younger men don't seem to think it makes any difference who wins, she says.

"There's very little political talk."

Jack in the Eagle barber shop won't allow political discussions. The town's too divided and he doesn't want to lose customers, he says.

Bob Lal at the Harbor Park barber shop says there's some political debate, but it's mostly federal. People seem to have strong feelings one way or the other about Prime Minister Trudeau or Tory leader Joe Clark.

But the provincial election has yet to generate too much emotion outside the headquarters of the two candidates.

TOWN TALK

There's a really big rally at Memorial Arena tonight with Premier Bill Bennett and his Socred cohorts and another Sunday when the socialists and NDP leader Dave Barrett move in.

Both affairs will be splashy, featuring bands, hoopla and all the pre-election razzamataz the parties can whip up.

The NDP particularly is going big on entertainment, says Victoria NDP candidate Charles Barber.

It runs from 7:30 to 10 p.m., and will include Susan Jacks, the Bill Sample Trio, Al Fireman, Ladies in Lites, Bim, Barry Healy, Jim Byrnes and 93-year-old ex-vaudevillian George Clarke.

Co-hosts will be television actor Bruno Gerussi and CBC producer Terry David Mulligan.

Socred rally organizer Eric Charman says his party "isn't wasting a fortune on our rally like the NDP" but they will have the Paul Mascioli band providing some entertainment.

And hockey fans shouldn't be afraid of missing any action if the game goes into overtime. Television sets will be set up in the arena.

And to compensate for another conflict, Socred party workers will pass the hat at the rally for the Salvation Army. The Sally Ann's one-night blitz is tonight, and the Socreds didn't want to detract from that campaign.

The city bylaw says thou shalt not post election signs on public property.

But some supporters of Mayor Mike Young and Deregulation Minister Sam Bawlf, the Socred candidates for Victoria riding, either ignored the rule or weren't aware of its existence Monday.

A sharp-eyed resident spotted the Socred signs at Rockland and Moss and at Foul Bay and Fairfield and brought them to the attention of city manager Jim Bramley.

After conferring with municipal solicitor Jakob de Villier, Bramley issued the order: remove the signs.

A crew from the British Broadcasting Corporation was doing some video and sound recording in the conservatory at The Empress last week.

But the hotel background is only incidental to the subject of the program — a full history of the BBC.

The unit was interviewing Squadron-Leader Clarence S. Goode, 4690 Cordova Bay Road, who 55 years ago helped form the BBC and was a founder regional director of the organization.

Goode served with the Royal Flying Corps in the First World War and the Royal Air Force in the Second World War. For part of the latter he was stationed at Patricia Bay.

One of the more interesting little byplays of the provincial election campaign is the strained relationship between BCTV and the premier of all the province.

The premier, you'll recall, ticked off BCTV by taking close to 25 minutes of prime TV time to call the election after asking for only five.

Things ain't been the same since with BCTV being decidedly cool and the premier in turn letting it be known that he is not exactly overjoyed with the kind of coverage he's been getting from the CTV outlet.

Things got so bad that BCTV's John Gibbs had to chase back and forth across the Strait of Georgia last weekend in an effort to get answers to questions from da preem for an election special.

Gibbs, persistent little fellow that he is, flew to Victoria Saturday with his video crew and got answers to two questions at a meeting of the Inter Cultural Association, then flew back to Vancouver and got three more answers in separate interviews while the premier was mainstreeting at Oakridge Shopping Centre. The remaining five were finally answered during various on-the-spot interviews in Champlain Mall.

Two Lambrick Park Secondary School students have made the top ten in B.C. in a nation-wide math contest.

Robert Tast, 16, a Grade 11 student from 4554 Duart Road, placed third in the province.

Schoolmate Chun Wa Ko, 16, of 1770 Feltham, came close behind, being named sixth in B.C. Ko is also in Grade 11.

Quick (if sneaky) think award of the week goes to the unidentified man who was parked behind Victoria Socred candidate Sam Bawlf during one of those interminable waits for the Johnson Street bridge to come down.

Sam climbed out to see what was hold things up and when he wandered away from his car, the gent nipped out of his green van, strolled casually past Sam's vehicle and slapped on an NDP sticker.

Sam drove off with a bumper sticker which read You're Better Off With the NDP.

The sticker has since been removed.

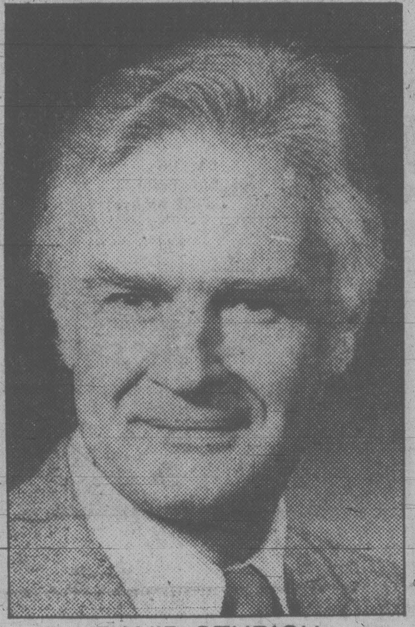
Nanaimo: SCs Need Big Turnout

By PAUL NICHOLSON
Times Staff

TOM HUMBLE
. . . his people need coaxing



DAVID STUPICH
. . . his people do their duty

NANAIMO — Quarterhorse breeder Tom Humble sits in the bright, spacious Social Credit campaign headquarters and talks excitedly about the May 10 election.

Nanaimo is Socred territory, he says, absent-mindedly tugging at the brass ends of the string tie that dangle down the front of his blue Western shirt. But the people of the area are steeped in the belief that it's NDP country.

Humble says if he can convince Socred supporters to come to the polls, he can win the riding back for the party.

Socreds aren't like NDPers who dutifully go the the polls, he says. They have to be coaxed.

When it is pointed out that more than 78 per cent of the voters turned out in 1975, and the NDP's Dave Stupich still won by 1,100 votes and 49 per cent of the total, Humble shrugs his denim-bedecked shoulders.

He says that this time there are only two candidates. The Liberals and Conservatives were either unable or unwilling to field candidates. And a lot has changed in 3½ years, he adds.

He taps a big, circular table in the headquarters. "Two former NDPers walked in off the street and built this for us. That's the kind of support we're getting."

Humble is a thin, wiry man. At 61 his short hair is grizzled grey and his face is gaunt, making his cowboy hat appear too big.

Despite his enthusiasm, his task of knocking off Stupich, like his stetson, seems a bit too big for him.

Dodging the puppy and baby playing on the floor at the busy NDP headquarters are dozens of party volunteers organizing the next stage of the campaign.

Party membership has grown from 1,200 in 1975 to "2,300 and still coming in", making it the largest membership of any NDP constituency in Canada.

Yet, surprisingly, money is a bit of a problem. Candidate Stupich says many of the members give $100 to the party annually and a lot donate even more.

"So when the election comes, they feel they've already done their bit."

Stupich says the successful membership drive has ironically hurt the campaign warchest.

The Socreds boast 1,800 members, up about 300 from last time. Their budget is about $20,000 while the NDP are looking at spending about $12,000.

Boundary and population changes have greatly affected the riding, making comparisons to the 1975 campaign difficult and making NDP workers nervous.

The rural northern section of the riding has been chopped out and urban Ladysmith to the south added.

Stupich says one-third of the 40,000 eligible voters in this election are new to the list.

So despite his fairly comfortable win last time, there's no room for complacency, he says.

The lack of a Liberal candidate is not surprising, but the absence of the Tories has caused a bit of a stir.

Jim Alcorn, who was designated by leader Vic Stephens to run in Nanaimo, says the local constituency first welcomed him, then abandoned him.

"For two weeks in an NDP camp, I fought diligently for our party. I feel I was wrongly dealt with," he said.

Because he was sabotaged by the local party members, he says he was unable to get enough names to sign his nomination papers and was forced to drop out.

He says their change in attitude toward him is amazing, and he firmly believes there was pressure or even threats against Tory workers not to field a candidate.

The local party executive dismisses Alcorn's suggestion, saying they withdrew support when they found out he was 69 years old and had had two heart attacks.

But whatever the reasons, it's now a two-way battle, just the way the Socreds wanted it.

Humble says most of the six per cent of the vote that went to the Liberals and Tories last time should go Socred. And that, Socred party workers feel, puts them on an even keel with Stupich.

Humble is a hard worker at the local level. He was president of the action committee that got the major Duke Point industrial park moving.

He says he's a fighter and his campaign literature tells of the plane crash near Hudson Hope in which he was the sole survivor.

With severe injuries, he walked out of the bush three days after the crash.

"Never give up" is Tom's attitude, the brochure says.

A native Albertan, Humble has stump-ranched in the Cariboo and worked for B.C. Hydro where he's taken a leave of absence as manager of the Nanaimo office for the duration of the campaign.

He's one of the management level people in Hydro that believes, like a recent report, the giant Crown corporation should be broken up.

The two grey-haired hopefuls (accountant Stupich is 57) respect one another and the campaign has been gentlemanly so far, showing no signs of sinking to mudslinging depths.

Although people tend to think the riding is an NDP stronghold, voters have sent MLAs to Victoria representing all four major parties. The NDP have held it under Stupich since 1972. Mayor Frank Ney defeated Stupich in 1969, and held it for the Socreds for three years.

The lack of local issues makes it a bit tough for the candidates to initiate rollicking campaigns.

A highway bypass around the city is important, but both candidates support that.

Stupich says unemployment is unacceptably high, but a large part of that problem is non-residents seeking work in the Nanaimo area because of its history for supplying jobs.

The Socreds say they are fighting apathy. Conditions are so good in the area it's difficult to get Social Credit supporters interested.

Humble says Stupich has not pushed hard enough for local things, while he has managed to spearhead projects like Duke Point.

"If I can do that from the outside (of the legislature), think what I could do from the inside," he said.

But Stupich says a lot was done while he was an MLA on the government side. The groundwork for Duke Point was being laid when he was a cabinet minister. And the college was built. He says the hospital expansion would go on regardless who the MLA is.

On the surface it's a quiet campaign in Nanaimo. The man in the street is generally disinterested.

But the furious activity in both the campaign headquarters belies the somnolence outside.

And on election day, there is little doubt Nanaimo voters will turn out in force as usual. The riding traditionally has one of the best voter turnouts in the province.

And there is even less doubt that Stupich, four-time winner and former cabinet minister will once again jump in his blue Buick for the trip back to Victoria.

7-Mill Cut In N. Saanich

North Saanich mayor George Westwood said today the municipal budget will permit up to a seven-mill cut in municipal taxes.

Although details of the budget are being kept secret until presented to council next Monday, Westwood said the $1.6 million budget is well within the five-per-cent ceiling asked by the provincial government.

The municipal mill rate last year was 25.6 mills. This year it will be about 18 mills, Westwood indicated.

The mayor said greater staff efficiencies and the municipality's good fortune in winning a number of legal suits last year helped reduce taxes.

He said council has set aside $90,000 to cover legal suits such as the one brought against the municipality concerning the new arena.

That money can now be transferred back into general revenue.

In addition the municipality received $9,000 more than expected from the operation of Sandown race track and derived a larger revenue from new construction, not that there was so much more building but rather that values were considerably higher.

Westwood said much of credit for the budget must go to municipal staff.

"That we are able to cut the mill rate is part and parcel of their talents," he said. "They're getting more efficient, especially in terms of road construction."

2,000 Sally Ann Canvassers Calling Tonight

More than 2,000 canvassers will call on Greater Victoria homes tonight seeking donations for the Salvation Army's Red Shield Appeal.

The one-shot campaign ends at 9 p.m. and covers about 40,000 homes.

Donations, through divisional chairmen, are also being sought from businesses, the professions and employees.

This year's target is $217,000. The 1978 campaign raised $196,186.

The funds are used to help carry on the Salvation Army's social programs.

Victoria lawyer Robert McKay is general chairman of this year's campaign and vice-chairman is George Easdon.

Prices Increased On 375 LDB Items

The cost of drinking increased today as the B.C. Liquor Distribution Branch (LDB) moved to pass on price increases on 375 items, mostly Canadian spirits and liqueurs.

An LDB spokesman said from Vancouver that price hikes apply to Canadian rye, whisky, gin, rum, vodka and liqueurs.

She said the increases are the result of supplier price hikes experienced by the liquor branch in April.

Stock now on the shelves will not be subject to price tag changes.

Not all the news is bad. A few items — including American beer — are going down in price.

Starting May 1 Olympia and Schlitz beer will be reduced 10 cents to $5.40 a case.

A few other items, including four brands of imported white wines, will also undergo minor decreases.

In addition to the price hikes on domestic products some 15 imported wines will also rise, with increases ranging from 15 cents to $1.55 a bottle.

Under the new prices for Canadian spirits, rye drinkers will have to pay 30 cents to 60 cents more for a 25-ounce bottle.

Seagram's VO is up 40 cents to $8.55 while Alberta Premium rye climbs 30 cents to $7.50.

A 40-ounce bottle of Potters Special Old rye will now be $11.25, a $1.30 hike.

Gin is up between 35 cents and 55 cents, with Gordon's Dry climbing 35 cents to $7.35 and Hudson Bay dry up 15 cents to $6.90.

Rum jumps an average of 30 cents bringing Bacardi white up to $7.65 and Lamb's Navy to $7.60.

Vodka climbs about 40 cents to 55 cents.

'Carbon Copy'

Defence Minister Barney Danson said here Monday Conservative leader Joe Clark knows a good thing when he sees one.

Danson was commenting on the five-point defence policy Clark says he will put into effect if the Tories are elected May 22.

"It's an absolute carbon copy of our program," Danson told a news conference

Visiting the campaign headquarters of Cowichan-Malahat-The Islands Liberal candidate David Anderson, Danson said Clark's promise to reduce civilian support personnel would mean the armed forces would have to assume extra duties, thus reducing their efficiency.

B.C. Knits on Fashion Map

Canada's native knits are distinctive, desirable and a source of pride to many people.

These sweaters, hats and mitts are Cowichan knits that are made by the Coast Salish Indians of British Columbia.

They're of pure wool in shades of beige, grey, brown and cream.

The illustrations are contained in a new publication, Canada Fashion/Mode, first ever devoted to the total Canadian fashion industry.

It offers a photographic look at the complete clothing industry - men's, women's and children's - including leathers, furs, footwear and accessories.

The publication's purpose is to show Canada as a vital, vibrant fashion country to Canadians and also to the rest of the world.

Prime target is the international market where it is hoped that the book will stimulate export of Canadian clothes. The text is in four languages: English, French, Italian and German.

Fashion/Canada is an association of governments (federal and provincial), fashion industry, media and retailers.

A Wild Way To Trim Fat

By SUZY PATTERSON

PARIS (AP) — In this city obsessed with trim fashion, Robert Chung is the rage "fat" doctor. He readies both the beautiful and the bloated for the beaches of St. Tropez with a back-to-basics diet and exotic little pills.

For this Chinese doctor, rice is definitely out.

"All starch is bad for weight-watchers," says Chung.

"Eat food you would consume raw or uncooked, and you'll have fewer figure problems. You wouldn't eat rice or pie crust without cooking it, so they're out."

Chung's rule is to recall the days before fire and the food our primitive ancestors and wild animals thrived on — leafy green vegetables, most fruits, fish, game, chicken and beef. He doesn't say you have to eat them raw, just that you can eat them that way.

With the diet, Chung dispenses his own-formula pills that reek of the wild.

"They're made of elements from goat brain, animal ovary and dust from nux vomica," which is used to make strychnine," Chung says.

"They help the thyroid gland to react and eliminate fat faster."

Chung's lethal-sounding concoction has produced no ill effects to date.

On the contrary, Arab sheiks fly him to the Middle East to slim their harems; Pat Kennedy Lawford writes him glowing notes; the wraith-like figures of Marisa Berenson, the jetsetting model-actress, is testimony to Chung's success, and members of the Monaco royal family take his counsel.

A paragon of fitness, the bachelor doctor exercises with the jet set by jogging every day, skiing in Avoriaz, France, water skiing in Biarritz or Thailand, and dancing at chic discos nearly every night.

"You lose 900 calories in an hour," he says.

He disapproves of the eggs-bacon-pancake American breakfast.

"It fatigues the liver. Stay with fruit, coffee and thin toast."

His lunch is light, mainly fresh salads, and he calls dinner "la fete," even though it is hardly hearty.

"Smoked salmon, oysters, caviar with lemon and a bit of good toast," he advises. "But God forbid cream and blinis."

Just before sending clients into the diet wilds, Chung issues a princely bill, usually about $200 for an initial three-month treatment.

Chung warns that his little pills alone will not do the job. Dieters must eschew the wrong foods and drinks — animal fats, pork, bread, potatoes, rice, sweets and cream.

A gastro-enterologist who trained in his native Hong Kong and in Paris, Chung explains obesity on socio-economic terms, though he admits it sounds oversimplified.

"In the really poor countries you don't have obesity. But when countries get over the hunger problems, people stuff themselves as compensation, and they get very fat.

"This is what has happened to the better-off African or Middle Eastern women. Sheiks pay my first-class ticket to Saudi Arabia. The weight problem is a disaster there."

How B.C. Women Won the Vote

elizabeth forbes

I wonder how many women who vote in present day elections in British Columbia, ever stop to wonder how they gained the privilege.

I'd be willing to wager that few, if any, know that a fairly militant campaign went on in this province in the latter part of the 19th century and the early 1900s to gain the women's franchise.

Nor do they realize that a small group of outstanding women fought for that right in the face of great odds.

Lectures were given in Victoria by the world's leading suffragettes. A political equality league was formed. A newspaper published.

On one occasion, when Emmeline Pankhurst, the renowned English suffragette spoke in this city, two young women, both ardent workers for the cause, thought up a unique publicity stunt the like of which had never been seen in the city before. Nor since, for that matter.

In the forefront of the struggle was Mrs. Gordon Grant, staunch supporter of women's rights.

It was Mrs. Grant who headed a delegation with the first suffrage petition to the provincial government in 1885 and who kept going back each session with continuing petitions for more than 30 years.

Many times those delegations were eased out with smiles and empty promises. Back Mrs. Grant would go the next time, with more arguments and increased support.

In 1910, a Political Equality League was formed with men as well as women members. It eventually spread into every town and village of any consequence in the province.

One of the first undertakings of the league was to sponsor a lecture by Mrs. Pankhurst in the old Victoria Theatre on Douglas Street, where the T. Eaton company store is today.

It was in connection with this event that the two young women with the unique idea entered the picture.

Because the suffrage movement was unpopular, it was hard to get any sort of publicity in the newspapers.

Determined to make the Pankhurst lecture known, the two went out at midnight and from the CPR wharf, where Mrs. Pankhurst would land in Victoria, to the theatre, they chalked reminders of the meetings in bold letters on the sidewalks.

Ethel Bruce chalked sidewalks

One of that twosome was Miss Ethel Bruce, well-known in later years for her work in local council of women, and as a newspaper editor, world traveller and lecturer. The other was Miss Elsie Dodsworth.

In order to get more and better publicity for the movement the league finally decided to publish its own paper, The Champion.

An office was opened at 647 Fort Street and an organizing secretary was named, Miss Dorothy Davis. The editor was Mrs. Grant.

Finally, in 1916, the B.C. government went along with other provinces across Canada and decided to extend the electorial franchise to women.

This came about mainly because the Liberal opposition was making a determined effort to unseat that government and one of the first moves was to present a bill in favor of votes for women.

Premier William J. Bowser requested that it be withdrawn.

Because he said, a government bill was coming up that would permit soldiers to vote in a scheduled provincial election, later in the year, and he intended to add an amendment to it giving women the vote, in recognition of their war work.

There was a catch to it however.

He didn't plan to make that amendment law until January of the next year and then only if voters approved it in a special referendum at the election.

Mrs. Grant said it was unfair to present such a referendum to a purely male electorate. She called emergency meetings of the league in Victoria and Vancouver and a telegram was fired off to the Bowser government asking for a straight suffrage bill with no strings attached.

When this was refused, Mrs. Grant rallied her forces and started to lay the groundwork for a campaign that helped unseat the government by a comfortable majority.

In his victory speech Liberal Premier-elect Harlan C. Brewster acknowledged that the help of the suffrage group had been a vital force in the success of his party.

Mrs. Grant merely said with eloquent simplicity, "It is good to have lived to see this day."

The Brewster government immediately passed an amendment to the provincial elections act, permitting women not only to vote but to be elected to the legislature.

Third reading and royal assent were both bestowed on April 6, 1917.

A huge delegation of women attended that day's sitting of the Legislature. They placed bouquets of lilies and roses on the desks of both the premier and Attorney-General M.A. Macdonald.

The premier in turn extended to the suffrage leaders the courtesy of occupying seats on the floor of the house.

That evening he invited those leaders to a victory dinner where cabinet ministers and the suffragettes joined to celebrate the happy ending.

Postscript—Its interesting to note that in that same year Mrs. Grant turned to religion as a new challenge and from then until 1934 was just as active as Rev. Maria Grant, speaker and Bible teacher in the Victoria Truth Centre.

Fall Fabrics for All Seasons

NEW YORK (AP) — Fall fabrics are not limited to that season. Many can be worn into winter and some the year round.

This was demonstrated recently by two U.S. designers in separate shows — Julio and Charles Suppon.

Julio's designs are light and airy and require fine, almost fragile fabrics, such as silk mousseline, crepe de chine and rayon matte jersey. "When you step into fabrics this fine," he says, "it should feel dry, as though you've just powdered your body."

And since many of Julio's designs require certain areas of the body to be exposed, one's body should definitely be dry.

Suppon's approach is somewhat heavier and sportier. He chooses corduroy, khaki, leather, mohair and knits. These are fabrics that can be worn into winter and early spring for the practical-minded.

He opened his show with a set of sporty co-ordinates. A bottle leather jacket was worn over a rust challis hooded shirt and ochre hand-knit sweater. The pleated skirt was khaki, and was shown about mid-knee. A tweed jacket with side pleats was worn with a four-panelled pleated skirt and camel jersey T-shirt.

Julio opened his show with a set of lacy body stockings. These were cut low in the front and high at the thigh. The shoulders were padded.

"Shoulder padding in jackets and blouses tends to slip around, to move against your movements," Julio said. "This doesn't happen to the reinforced shoulders of the body suit."

His pant suits were simple, emphasizing a short jacket and full pants. Day dresses also were simple.

Youth Clinic

Young readers' questions on human relations and sex are answered by a panel of experts: Saul Levine, psychiatrist; Marion Powell, medical doctor; Graham Cotter, clergyman; and Bruce Vichert, social worker. Send questions to Youth Clinic, The Victoria Times, 2621 Douglas St., Victoria, B.C., V8W 2N4.

DEAR DR. POWELL: How old do you have to be to get breast cancer? I think I might have it, but I'm not sure what to look for. I am 14 and small—breasted. I have some lumps in my breasts which have been there since I was about 12. They started small but are now quite large. There is some pain to the touch. I am worried whether this is normal or not, but too scared to go to my mother or doctor. I have also noticed that my nipples are not nearly as dark as they used to be. They're closer to white.

ANSWER: Let me reassure you that the symptoms you describe are not those of breast cancer. This disease occurs in older women, not in women in their teens. It can occur in women in their 20s, but is more frequent in women over the age of 40.

Breast cancer appears first as a painless lump. A woman may find this when she examines her breasts. It is important that a woman learns how to examine her own breasts and that she do this self-examination regularly. Breast cancer is the most common cancer in women.

The breasts are made of glands connected with fat and fibrous bands of tissues. These glands begin to grow in response to the female sex hormones which begin to be produced when a girl approaches puberty. Before she begins to menstruate she will notice she has small bumps just beneath her nipples. These are usually slightly tender. The breasts continue to develop and grow larger during the next few years. During this time they may feel bumpy and tender when they are touched. This tenderness occurs at the time of the menstrual period.

The nipples are usually slightly darker or are more pigmented than the rest of your body and the darker your complexion the darker your nipples will be. I have no explanation for the fact that your nipples appear to be whiter than before. It may be because it is getting to the end of winter when all your tan from last summer has faded.

DEAR MR. VICHERT: My friend and I are, respectively, 13 and 14 years old. We both have the same problem. All the boys look at a girl's physical features before her personality. We know this from some of the remarks we have overheard. We may not look like Farrah Faweett, but we don't look like Frankenstein either. We know we have more to offer than just our bodies, but how can we prove that to the boys?

Why do they look at our chests before they even consider what we are really like?

ANSWER: The first thing we all react to about other people is their physical presence because it is the first thing we see. Naturally all the physical aspects of a person will create an impression on us. We all also have sexual feelings that can be stimulated by the physical appearance of someone else. "Sex symbol" actors and actresses make a lot of money out of this aspect of human nature. Also, a person's physical presence is immediate, but to get to know someone's personality may take a little longer. It is also true that someone's physical presence may prompt another person to want to get to know the personality.

If you and your friend have ever discussed any of the boys you know by saying "He's cute" or "He's good looking" or "He's tall" you are doing the same thing the boys are doing. Of course you have more to offer than your bodies and a person with some maturity would want to get to know your personality.

Some people have developed their personality to such an extent that it is almost the first thing you notice about them — and they are very exciting people to meet.

DEAR DR. COTTER: I am 15 years old. I have a boyfriend but my parents forbid me to see him by myself because they think the first thing we will do is head for the bedroom. They also think that the first guy you go with steady is the guy you will marry. They have great plans for me, to go to college, etc. I really want to do that, too, and would not want anything to interfere with my plans.

I don't think my parents see me as a person with feelings and they think they can just walk all over me. I understand and agree with their intentions 100 per cent but they don't think that I'm old enough to think and care for myself. I consider I'm an intelligent, sensible human being, but they think that I'll run around doing naughty things with my boyfriend.

I don't think it's bad to have sex at any age if you know what you are doing. But I'm not thinking along those lines. My parents are the ones who can't think maturely. I'll be 16 next month but they say I should wait. Wait till when? I'm supposed to enjoy my childhood and high school years, but I'm not.

My boyfriend and I have been going out for three months and we get along well and I can tell him anything. Breaking up because of my parents seems such a waste. Thanks for caring so much, Mum and Dad, but it ruins me if you care too much.

ANSWER: You certainly sound intelligent and sensible. It's just possible that you are so much so that your parents are stunned and their reactions are more self-protective than protective of you. You have put your argument very well, and I hope all parents will take note.

It is good that you and your boyfriend are sure of yourselves and positive about life. I am not sure that there is any guarantee that we should enjoy high school years. Many people have gained their character through enduring and learning in these years which have been to them a long nightmare with few sunny patches.

DEAR DR. POWELL: A friend of mine went on the pill, as she feels she is going to have sex with her boyfriend. She is into chemical drugs and I wonder if this will stop the effect of the pill. The drugs she uses are acid and THC, if that makes any difference. She is slowly but surely getting away from the use of drugs.

ANSWER: The pill works independently of any other medication. Taking chemical drugs will not interfere with the hormonal effect of the pill on the reproductive system. But if she is using drugs there is a greater chance she may forget to take a pill for a day or two. So the drugs do not stop the pill working but they may interfere with functioning.

If she feels this may be a problem she may find an IUD better for her. The IUD is almost as effective as the pill in preventing pregnancy and remains in place in the uterus.

Greenhouses in Action

OTTAWA (CP) — This year some greenhouse operators are growing produce on a small scale because of recent high prices of imported goods, says a spokesman for the fruit and vegetable division of Agriculture Canada.

Ken Hunter says Canadian greenhouse cucumbers and lettuce have been in stores in some areas since February and greenhouse tomatoes now are appearing.

Sunny weather in February and March resulted in a good greenhouse crop this year, but competition has been stiff from the U.S. and Mexican field crops because unfavorable weather conditions delayed harvesting.

"The delay meant more of the southern crop is coming to our markets at the same time as our greenhouse crops," Hunter explains.

But he adds that greenhouse crops have one definite advantage over southern field crops.

"Imported vegetables must be picked at the immature, green stage and ripened in transit or in storage. Greenhouse products are picked ripe and have that fresh-picked flavor many consumers like."

Ontario has the largest greenhouse industry, with 395 growers, Hunter says. British Columbia, Quebec, Alberta, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have a smaller acreage under glass but grow a considerable volume of vegetables for local markets.

"The main concern of the industry now is to keep costs down."

Hunter says greenhouse operations are energy-intensive and the industry has suffered because of the increasing oil prices.

dear abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband won't let me register to vote. He says I might have to spend a month locked up in a motel with other members of a jury and no way will he allow that.

I realize that the chances of this happening are remote, but I suppose it could happen. I run a business at home and have a 4-year-old child to take care of, so I probably could be excused from jury duty anyway.

Our marriage has enough problems without adding another one, so I've abided by his wishes, but I'd really like to vote in the next election because so many important issues are coming up.

Should I go behind my husband's back and register? WANTS TO VOTE

DEAR WANTS: No. Register in front of his face. And don't worry about being stuck with jury duty. If you have legitmate reasons for being excused, you will be.

The right to vote is not only a privilege, it's the responsibility of every citizen who wants a voice in how his country should be run — and by whom. By choosing not to vote, you forfeit your right to criticize your government's policies and its elected officials. Edmund Burke said, "The only thing that is necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing." I'm with Edmund.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a gentleman who lets a lady win in a game of sports or cards?

GILDA

DEAR GILDA: If a gentleman lets a lady know that he has let her win, he's either a bad actor or he's no gentleman.

DEAR ABBY: I've been widowed for six years and have two children, 8 and 10. For two years I've been living with a man who lights up my life. My children adore him (they think we're married), and we're a very happy family even though it's not legal.

My live-in friend and I bought a house together (as "Mr. and Mrs.") and we share all the household expenses.

A lot of people think we're married. We just never talk about our relationship. (I am "Mrs." on the mailbox, and we have "Mr. and Mrs." charge accounts, etc.)

I was recently left $100,000 by a relative. Ever since my friend heard about it he has been planning on how "we" will spend it. (He wants to buy a boat.)

I would like to put it in trust for my children. What I need to know, Abby, is this: What will happen to my children if I should die? He is not their real father, and he hasn't adopted them. And what will happen to me if he should die? I'm sure he's made no provisions for me in his will.

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Both you and your live-in friend should see a lawyer and have these questions answered immediately. Don't put it off, don't assume anything and take nothing for granted. Take your legal question to a lawyer and pay him for what he knows. It's the best investment you can make.

Girls run in our family. When I say run, I don't mean jog. I mean that I have four girls, one of my sisters has three girls and my other sister also has three girls. Don't get me wrong. We love them, but recently I heard that there is a way of choosing the sex of a child. Is there any truth to this? — Mrs. T.J.

DEAR MRS J.:

In this age of equal opportunity and fair practices (for women) you may be accused of discrimination by your intense desire to increase the male population.

I, too, may similarly be incriminated, yet I must tell you that such a sex-determing technique is, indeed, now under active investigation.

Dr. Ronald Ericsson of Sausalito, Calif., and Dr. W. Paul Dmowski at the Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Centre in Chicago have devised a fascinating technique. They have found that when the sperm is layered in a test tube, on top of serum, the sperm begins to swim downward. The sperm bearing the "Y" chromosomes (male), being strong swimmers, usually reach the bottom first. In this way, the bottom layer has a high concentration of "Y" chromosomes (male), while the upper layer has a high concentration of "X" chromosomes (female).

When the bottom layer is then used for artificial insemination, there seems to be a greater chance for the woman to give birth to a boy.

Dr. Dmowski says that the odds of bearing a male child with this technique are better than some of the techniques that have previously been tried.

Families who have the reverse of the situation that exists in yours, in other words, families who are "boy-heavy", should know that scientists are also at work in an effort to insure a greater frequency of girls.

I am in desperate need of help. For the past six months I have had a steady hissing noise in both of my ears, day and night. It makes me terribly nervous. My doctor says I must learn to live with it. I am a widow, age 72, and I can't believe that nothing can be done for me. — MRS. M.G.S.

DEAR MRS. S.:

The condition you describe is known as tinnitus. Anyone who has such a persistent noise appreciates how distressing it is for you. Almost always when this occurs in the elderly, it is due to some narrowing of the blood vessels, to the ear and to the brain.

Some people are petrified that the noise means that they have a brain tumor or that they are going to have a stroke. Once this fear is alleviated, many people can adjust to the disturbing noise.

The American Tinnitus Association, with branches in most states, can bring you up to date with new methods and even electronic devices, to help mask out this very annoying condition.

Rice is nice when cooked properly. Don't stir rice after it comes to a boil; doing so mashes grains, making it gummy. Fluff with a fork when done to let steam escape. But don't leave rice in its cooking pan for more than a few minutes or it will pack down.

GENERATING INTEREST.

All paths lead to your Honda dealer. And with good reason. Honda lawnmowers, outboards, generators, tillers, General Purpose engines and water pumps are making news as powerful, economical alternatives to the competition.

That's because at the heart of every Honda power product is the world famous Honda engine. But we don't stop there. All major parts are Honda parts. Unlike some other manufacturers.

The result: maximum efficiency, reliability and long life.

Take our lawnmowers. Our exclusive Roto-Stop® clutch system* provides additional safety by allowing you to stop the blade in seconds, without stopping the engine.

The cast aluminum deck is specially designed to create the utmost suction for cleaner cutting. And yet, they're surprisingly easy to operate.

Honda 7.5 hp and 10 hp outboards are equally outstanding. We offer the only 4-stroke water-cooled engines in Canada. Using regular gas, they require no oil mixing. Very efficient. Very clean. Very quiet. Very dependable.

Honda portable generators are great for home, cottage, farm, camp and construction. Depending on the model, you'll get 2½ to 7 hours of continuous, dependable operation per tankful with 300 to 3500 watts of power.

Honda tillers are super powerful yet quiet, with chain drive transmission, power take-off, safety clutch and folding handle.

Finally, there are our General Purpose engines and water pumps.

Free-Share Offer Draws Most Flak

By MIKE HUGHES
Times Staff

The Socred government's free-share program, essential services legislation and ferry rates were the major points of discussion at a lively Monday night meeting featuring the Oak Bay-Gordon Head candidates.

Socred candidate Brian Smith drew laughter from the crowd of about 200 at Hillcrest elementary school when he denied a questioner's charge that the free shares were "a blatant attempt to buy my vote."

"Are you ashamed of a party that tries to buy votes?" Smith was asked amid general cheers.

Smith defended the government's offer of free shares in the B.C. Investment Corp. by saying it was an effort to get people to invest in their own province.

Conservative candidate Vic Stephens, who represented the riding in the last legislature, referred to the free-share program as a fraud.

NDP candidate Muriel Overgaard, referring to the premier's statements that the program is designed to give B.C. people a chance to invest in their province, said she has learned the shares will go on sale in Alberta in August.

(The Socred government telegraphed its intention to make the shares available out of the province when it attempted to bring in legislation prior to the election call that would have allowed that to happen.)

On the subject of essential services, Smith said the government has to have the power to put an end to strikes or lockouts which are disrupting necessary social services.

"There are occasions when the government has to act," he said.

Overgaard disagreed, saying the essential services legislation which provides cooling off periods in disputes involving services deemed essential does in effect take away collective bargaining rights.

"It breaks down the system," she said, explaining that an employer is not going to bargain in good faith knowing that the government is on his side.

Stephens said the real issue is that the essential services legislation puts power in the hands of the cabinet which should be given to the legislature as a whole.

All parties should be able to debate the issues of the day, he said.

To loud applause he said the important issue is the Socred government's erosion of parliamentary traditions.

Stephens also hit the Socreds for increasing the ferry rates, saying it was just another example of the government's penchant for overtaxing.

Smith agreed the rates were increased too rapidly, although he said some adjustment was needed.

He suggested a special commuter rate should be provided for those using the ferries to the mainland on a regular basis.

Overgaard said the reason the rates had to go up was the government sold two ferries and then leased them back. She said there should be more ferries and since they are part of the transportation system, should be government-subsidized.

A member of the audience who identified himself as a strong federal Tory asked about Stephen's reasons for "causing some considerable embarrassment" to federal party leader Joe Clark with Stephens' charges of secret deals between the Socreds and the federal Liberal and Conservative parties.

The issue is not between Clark and himself, Stephens said, but the fact that cetain arrangements are made to prevent the provincial Tories from fielding candidates to run against the Socreds in provincial elections.

"I'm not going to bury that kind of stuff under the rug," he said to loud clapping.

In her opening remarks, Overgaard spoke about the province's growing unemployment problem and attacked the Socreds for, she said, not providing sufficient funds for schools and hospitals.

She also claimed the Socreds are doing very little in the field of human rights education and awareness and suggested the Human Rights Commission "needs restructing and more dedicated people need to be appointed."

Park Near Kelowna Promised

KELOWNA (CP) — A 413-acre provincial park will be established in the Bear Creek-Delta area on the west side of Okanagan Lake, Premier Bill Bennett has announced.

The provincial government will buy the land from Crown Zellerbach for $650,000, with half the purchase price paid by the Devonian Foundation, a Calgary-based charitable trust, said the premier.

The proposed parkland, located eight kilometres from Kelowna, contains 2,500 feet of lakefront and a lower beach area will be developed for water-orientated visitor facilities.

The upper, more steeply-sloped area will include hiking trails and viewpoints overlooking the lake and Bear Creek Canyon.

A Conservative government would force the Insurance Corp. of B.C. to compete with private insurance companies, Tory leader Vic Stephens has promised.

The Crown corporation now has a monopoly on compulsory insurance, but Stephens said that aspect would be opened up to private insurance. He also said that if ICBC couldn't compete, it would be phased out.

Stephens said his party is not making wild promises like the Social Credit party and the NDP.

He said a Conservative government would immediately eliminate the sales tax and school costs from property taxes. He was still predicting a minority government after May 10.

Profiteering Linked With Food Prices

VANCOUVER (CP) — Excessive profiteering by the food industry is partially responsible for the recent surge in food prices and an NDP government would assist food co-operatives to provide an alternative and stimulate competition, party leader Dave Barrett said Monday.

"We see increased food prices as a major threat to family life", Barrett said.

He outlined the NDP's food policy following a visit to the Ray-Cam Co-operative food store near the Vancouver East riding where he is seeking re-election.

The former premier said that, if elected in the May 10 provincial general election, his government would set up a special food co-op section in the B.C. Development Corp. to provide financial and management assistance to food co-operatives.

He said the corporation would offer administrative assistance and organizational expertise. It would offer co-ops the same programs available to small business and there would be no special capital grants available.

Barrett told a news conference that a 1976 food prices review board study had concluded that chain stores control food retailing to a large degree and therefore consumers are paying higher prices.

"We as government cannot possibly present an option to chains other than encouraging people to move into this type of food co-operatives," the NDP leader said.

"We are concerned that big chains are reaping big profits without true competition."

Barrett urged all British Columbians to join co-operatives as an shopping alternative and "we would do anything to encourage that."

"But the incentive and the motivation and the delivery of the co-op service itself must and should come from the people in the community."

Barrett said the NDP policy will ensure a reliable food supply and fair prices to consumers.

He repeated the party's commitment to preservation of agricultural land to reduce the trend of growing dependence on outside suppliers and to a farm income assurance program to protect the financial viability of the farming industry.

The NDP leader expressed regret at the Social Credit government's sale of Panco Poultry, which he said means poultry producers "could at any time be threatened by the historical closures we've had in the past — especially in producing areas."

He said young people will be encouraged to become farmers through a lease-to-purchase program for Crown-owned agricultural land.

Barrett said his party supports federal NDP leader Ed Broadbent's proposal for a fair prices commission with the power to roll back unjustified food prices.

"If this commission is not set up, the NDP would encourage selective shopping by publishing a bi-weekly or monthly shopper comparison list."

More Emphasis On Trades Urged

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Economic Development Minister Don Phillips said Monday B.C.'s education system should produce more skilled tradesmen and fewer academics.

The minister told a group of businessmen that students "don't necessarily need a high-school diploma" and should be given the option "as early as Grade 9" to enter a trade.

He said Education Minister Pat McGeer agrees the education system should "equip youth with skilled trades."

The minister said there is an increasing demand for skilled tradesmen, but did not mention B.C.'s unemployment rate which topped eight per cent last month.

Phillips said many teachers are upset with such a back-to-basics trend and have become politically active in attempts to oust the Social Credit government.

"School teachers don't agree with back-to-basics, but damn it we're going that way."

The B.C. Teacher's Federation, which officially endorsed the NDP in 1972, has not endorsed any party during the present campaign.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♢	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Dble

Opening lead - seven of hearts.

This remarkable hand occurred in a high-stake rubber bridge game. North probably should have passed one diamond, but he was one of those players who find themselves constitutionally unable to ackowledge weakness by passing. So he responded one heart.

South, unaware that North was shortchanging him, jumped to three notrump. True, South lacked the even distribution normally expected for this rebid, but he and his partner were using a method by which the three notrump rebid in this sequence showed an excellent diamond suit and a reasonable chance for nine tricks in notrump.

East doubled three notrump, thus commanding West to lead the suit that dummy had bid. Delighted with the double, West licked his chops and led the seven of hearts. Dummy's ten lost to the jack and East returned the deuce of clubs.

South could have saved a bushel of points by playing his nine of clubs on the deuce, but, in an effort to hold himself to down one, he played the king. West won with the ace and led another heart.

East cashed five heart tricks and the jack of clubs and then returned a spade, whereupon West took the ace of spades and cashed the Q-8-6 of clubs to bring his side to twelve tricks. West now led a spade to East's king and poor South went down nine — 2,600 points!

North was primarily responsible for the debacle. His heart bid was strictly for the birds, but even worse was his failure to rescue South from three notrump doubled. This was an error of major proportions, and he paid a horrible penalty for it.

North should have realized that his partner was expecting normal values from him — which North knew very well he didn't have. He should have hauled out the white flag and bid four diamonds.

Tomorrow: Reward for good behavior.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Astrological forecast for Wednesday, May 2
By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Accent on being familiar with "real worth" of possessions, friendships. See people as they are, not merely as you wish they might be. Pisces, Virgo individuals figure prominently. You can take solid steps towards security.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Emphasis on messages, short trips, establishing a "community of ideas." Shared experiences strengthen relationship. Humor is an important component. You'll have chance to raise capital for a pet project.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Finish what you start, reach beyond current expectations. Money, investments, personal values are at stake. Aries, Libra persons figure prominently. You will be rid of burden which belonged to another in first place. Yes, do celebrate!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emphasis on personality, initiative, independence, starting a project. Leo, Aquarius persons figure in scenario. You get credit due — you receive accolade from one you admire. Wear bright colors, be independent enough to test original ideas, concepts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent on confidential data, knowing that answers come from within, following through on intuitive flash. You could receive appointment or assignment from special organization, institution. Cancer, Aquarius individuals figure prominently.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Emphasis on pleasure principle, significant changes and an "interesting" relationship. You gain written word — another Virgo, a Gemini and Sagittarius play key roles. Express yourself. This is not time for reticence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You will break barrier separating you from climb up ladder. Be specific concerning details, become thoroughly familiar with basics — do your "homework." Leo; Taurus, Aquarius persons figure prominently — so does the number 4.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Accent on pursuit of knowledge, publication, journey. You gain grand opportunity to improve distribution and display. You can reach more people and get message across in dynamic manner. Gemini individual becomes enthusiastic supporter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Check sources — and resources. Money, promises, partnerships, home remodeling could be part of scenario. Spotlight on the occult, hidden material, missing links, the solution to a puzzle. Taurus, Libra and Scorpio persons figure prominently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Accent on marriage, ties of an important, permanent nature. Go slow, maintain low profile, be discreet — let others do most of the talking. Listen, observe, take notes. A "contract" may be in the offing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Work pressures become evident. Older individual is in your corner. Prove yourself by handling added responsibility. Capricorn, Cancer persons figure prominently. Keep health, diet, nutrition resolutions. You will discover more persons who share your concerns, interests.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Good lunar aspect coincides now with creativity, children, changes, expanding horizons, enhancing personal appeal. You can make money with an Aries. You'll complete task, assignment. Aggressive attitude could mark you as a "winner".

IF MAY 2 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are sensitive, moody, sensual, fond of luxury items, art objects and gourmet food. You make major domestic adjustment in 1979, possibly a change of residence around September. Cancer, Capricorn persons play key roles in your life. You travel in June. Social life picks up steam. You meet a Sagittarian (in June) who could make life more exciting. You tend to worry more about others than about your own needs. You can be stubborn, tenacious and very careful in connection with security, money. You take nothing for granted; you have special skill, enabling you to rebuild homes, to make "old" items attractive. You are drawn to antiques — you understand senior citizens, people trust you even before really knowing you.

HOW TO WRITE
CLASSIFIED ACTION
AD

1—IT'S BEST to start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment, room, etc., for rent, or property for sale; start your ad with the location.

2—BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably by giving complete, definite information. Always include the price in your advertisement.

3—MAKE IT EASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always give your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time for the prospect to get in touch with you.

4—PLAY SAFE. You get the greatest reader attention by using consecutive insertions. A six-day order is best and costs less, and you can, of course, stop your ad as soon as you get the results you want. You pay only for the days your ad appeared. Lower yearly rates are available to those who wish to keep their services or products before the public.

5—PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you want to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Want Ad.

6—GIVE YOUR PROSPECT every inducement you can with good copy. Classified action ad readers have the money and are already interested in buying the merchandise or service you have to offer; the details and information you give are the most important.

7—TO PLACE YOUR AD, call 386-2121, your direct line number to fast Want Ad action. A courteous, efficient advisor will be glad to help you word and place your order. And remember, Classified Action Ads afford you the most complete coverage. Telephones are open 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:00 to 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Don't allow the reader to speculate.

The Lord is my Shepherd
I shall not want
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures
He leadeth me beside the still waters
He restoreth my soul
He leadeth me in the path of righteousness for his name sake
Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death
I will fear no evil
For thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff
they comfort me
Thou preparest a table
before me in the presence of mine enemies Thou anointest my head with oil
My cup runneth over Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Lord forever.

SWEENEY - In loving memory of Diane, a dear daughter, sister and aunt, who passed away May 1, 1978.
She troubled no one, her wants were few,
And now dear Lord, she has come to you.
Take care of her as she takes her rest,
For the one you have taken was one of the best.
A cheery smile, a heart of gold,
She suffered much, but never told
Till God above knew what was best.
He took her home and gave her rest.
Mrs. Bea Snow, Janet, Del Bulman, Joyce and Bill Kerr and families.

THEY SHALL GROW NOT OLD AS WE WHO ARE LEFT GROW OLD, AGE SHALL NOT WEARY THEM, NOR THE YEARS CONDEMN, AT THE GOING DOWN OF THE SUN, AND IN THE MORNING, WE WILL REMEMBER THEM.

$300M Drug Ring Broken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government said today it has cracked a $300-million drug-smuggling ring run in Miami, Fla., by two owners of an automobile dealership.

The U.S. Justice Department announced that 14 persons, including the two car dealers, were indicted Monday and have been arrested.

Federal officials said the drug ring smuggled 500 tons of marijuana into the United States from Colombia over a 16-month period. They said the value of the marijuana was conservatively estimated to be about $300 a pound on the illicit market, or $300 million.

Federal agents said the drugs amounted to approximately eight per cent of the total marijuana smuggled into the U.S. in that period.

The 40-count indictment, unsealed today, alleged violation of 12 federal laws, including one that carries a maximum life prison sentence.

Attorney-General Griffin Bell said in a statement: "This is the largest case brought by the department in the drug trafficking field since I've been attorney-general."

The indictment charged that the drug ring was organized in August, 1974, by Robert Jay Meinster, 37, and Robert Elliot Platshorn, 36, both of Miami Beach and partners in the South Florida Auto Auction in Miami.

They began running tons of Colombian marijuana from South Florida to storage facilities in Philadelphia before relocating the operation in the Miami area by mid-1976, the indictment said.

Others involved in the ring, the government charged, were Lynne Platshorn, 34, of Miami Beach, a bookkeeper and wife of Robert Platshorn; Dr. Morris Keller, 41, a chiropodist; Eugene Meyers, 39, a Tampa, Fla., seafood importer, and Randall Fisher, 21, a boat captain from Fort Lauderdale.

Others indicted were Modesto Echezarreta-Cruz, 43, an auto exporter from Key Biscayne; Richard Grant, 23, of Hollywood, Fla.; Raul Davila-Jimeno, 32, a coffee-grower from Santa Marta, Colombia, and Mark Phillips, 30, of Fort Lauderdale, an executive with Striker Aluminum Yachts.

Also, Carl J. London, 37, a pilot and manager of a daycare centre in Clarksville, Ga.; Gregory Poulos, 32, a Fort Lauderdale businessman; Ronald Elliott, 41, a former airline pilot and restaurant owner from Winter Haven, Fla., and Roy Walker, 35, an airline pilot from Winston-Salem, N.C.

Carter Warns Soviets: Obey Nuclear Pact, or Else

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says if the Soviet Union violates a treaty to limit nuclear weapons "it might very well escalate into a nuclear confrontation."

Other consequences of Soviet cheating, Carter said Monday at a news conference, might include U.S. nullification of the treaty and termination of "the good relationship" between the two countries.

The president's remarks were offered in defence of the nearly-completed treaty to limit U.S. and Soviet long-range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said they also were intended as a public warning to the Kremlin.

However, Carter gave no indication he expects the Russians to cheat. And he reiterated his confidence in U.S. means of verifying Soviet compliance "to our complete satisfaction."

Meanwhile, U.S. State Secretary Cyrus Vance and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin scheduled another negotiating session today — their 22nd this year.

Critics of the treaty have doubted both Soviet intentions and U.S. monitoring ability, particularly with the closing of two bases in Iran that gave the United States a ringside view of Soviet missile launchings.

Carter acknowledged "there are limits on what we can do." But he said the Soviets are aware of the risks of violating the treaty and that this lends "an element of stability and rationality" to the pursuit of weapons controls.

He also told reporters that even if the Senate vetoes the treaty he would adhere to its key provisions — providing the Russians do the same.

"I would do all I could, monitoring very closely Soviet activities, to comply with the agreements reached," he said.

This pledge might lead to new controversy since it implies unilateral U.S. controls. Carter seemed to be aware of that prospect when he said he has "no inclination to minimize the importance of the constitutional process."

The Senate has the power to kill the treaty with 34 negatives votes. The administration needs the support of at least 67 of the 100 senators for ratification.

Opponents are not likely to accept the prospect of a treaty being put into effect informally if it is rejected in the Senate.

On another matter, Carter said he favors granting trade benefits to the Soviet Union and to China, but is still exploring the legal side of the question.

The move depends on a presidential finding that the Russians and the Chinese are permitting Jews and other minorities to leave freely.

Congress imposed that requirement in 1974, leading to a Soviet decision to give up trade benefits with the United States rather than comply.

China has never been permitted the advantage of lower tariffs. The administration would like to boost trade to cement new ties with Peking, but wants to follow a parallel track with the Russians.

Wrangle Developing On Rhodesia Rule

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Rhodesia's ruling biracial council, split down the middle, called a meeting today to start what is likely to be a protracted wrangle over whether to transfer power to Prime Minister-elect Abel Muzorewa.

The U.S.-educated Methodist bishop has said he wants to move with "utmost speed" in becoming Rhodesia's first black prime minister. Prime Minister Ian Smith also favors a quick turnover of the reins of government.

But the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, who came in a poor second in the black majority rule elections won by Muzorewa two weeks ago, has charged fraud and demanded a delay in the transfer of power.

The fourth member of the ruling Executive Council, tribal chief Jeremiah Chirau, has urged the transfer be delayed to allow a peace treaty to be reached with the black nationalist guerrillas of the Patriotic Front.

All four were scheduled to meet today in Smith's offices.

Sithole said Monday night that Smith approached him to discuss his charges that the polling was rigged to benefit Muzorewa, who ended up with 51 of the 72 parliamentary seats up for grabs in the balloting two weeks ago.

Sithole was asked if he foresees any circumstances under which he would back down and allow Muzorewa to form Rhodesia's first black-led government.

"No," he replied. "It's a matter of principle." And he warned, "Unless the irregularities are corrected, we face another long period of physical confrontation."

Rhodesia Election A Sham: UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The UN Security Council Monday condemned Rhodesia's internal election as a "sham" and called its results "null and void." But the United States and two other Western powers refused to go along with the decision.

Britain, France and the United States abstained on the resolution denouncing the recent Rhodesian exercise as "sham elections" and an attempt "to perpetuate white racist minority rule."

The 15-member council approved the decision by a vote of 12-0.

The resolution appealed to all states not to recognize the new Rhodesian government and to strictly observe the mandatory UN sanctions against Rhodesia.

U.S. Deputy Ambassador Donald McHenry told the council that under U.S. legislation President Carter would have to determine whether the recent Rhodesian elections were free and fair.

"Pending that determination," he said, "it would not be appropriate for the U.S. to take a position on the resolution."

Rhodesia's militant Patriotic Front, which controls the black guerrillas, was excluded from the recent elections.

SALAAMS AND SHALOMS — the Arab and Israeli words meaning peace — were shouted from ship to shore Monday as the 4,500-ton Israeli freighter Ashdod navigated the Suez Canal. Making the trip as a result of improved Egypt-Israel relations stemming from the recent treaty between the two countries, the freighter was described as the first vessel flying an Israeli flag ever allowed through the waterway.

Mustang, Mercury Repair Recall

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is recalling more than 4,700 1979-model Ford Mustangs and Mercury Capris for possible repair of a plastic guard which protects the engine fan, the automaker said Monday.

The fan guard might come in contact with the fan if the engine is raced with the hood up, said John King, manager of the Ford service engineering office.

No problems have been reported by owners and the defect was found in assembly line testing, he said.

Cars affected by the recall are equipped with six-cylinder engines without air conditioning, King said.

Ford and Mercury dealers will install additional supports and fasteners without charge. Owners will be notified by mail, King said.

U.S. Plan to Return Draft Brings Out Mass Protests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee's approval of resuming military registration for 18-year-old men for the first time since Vietnam already has brought shouting protesters into the halls of Congress.

There will be more of the same across the U.S.

The House Armed Services subcommittee on military personnel voted unanimously Monday to require the president to register all males who become 18 on or after Jan. 1, 1981.

The proposal, which must be approved by the full committee before it can be debated by the House as part of legislation authorizing weapons purchases and setting military strength ceilings, would not go into effect until after the 1980 congressional and presidential elections.

Several hundred young people, waving Vietnam-era signs that depicted draft card burnings and resist-the-draft slogans, protested against registation as a step toward resuming the draft and chanted, "Hell, no, we won't go!" outside the Capitol.

About 100 of them later jammed a House office building hallway outside the office of Rep. Paul McCloskey (Rep-Calif.).

Rev. Barry Lynn, head of the Committee Against Registration and the Draft, condemned the registration plan as "a fraudulent and cowardly act" and said, "We want a full-blown debate before they take any of us away again."

The last draft callup was in 1972 as American troops prepared to leave Vietnam. Registration, unpopular because of the Indochina war, and scorned by many young men who refused to comply, was scrapped three years later.

But registration and possible return of the draft now are being discussed because of claims the all-volunteer military system cannot draw enough qualified recruits.

Think Miniature If Space Limited

A full city lot is not necessary for growing a few vegetables at home. A window-box, balcony or patio tub, the small door-yard garden of an apartment, or the narrow border between a walk and a building, can grow a surprising number of nutritious and tasty meals.

A further encouragement to utilizing limited space is the number of vegetable selections miniature in size. These require less than half the space of conventional varieties, and succession sowings as space becomes available ensures a steady supply throughout the season.

All that is needed to start a miniature garden, either at ground level or in a container, is some good soil. The better the soil the better the results, the more it will produce, and the faster the vegetables will reach usable size.

Any ordinary garden soil mixed with composted vegetable wastes will make a wonderful soil, but there is the chance the beginner may not have, as yet, a small compost heap working in an old bathtub or a wooden box.

Even this is not really a problem because old horse and cow manure is readily available by the bagful and in small quantities. Advertisements are found in the classified section.

The exact contents of a miniature vegetable garden will depend on the individuals it is to supply and the vegetables preferred and mostly used.

Popular on most lists are the miniature tomatoes; small plants, small fruits, but prodigious producers. Some of the varieties for which seed is available are Tiny Tim, Tumbling Tim used in hanging baskets andwindow boxes, Red Plum, Red Cherry, Red Pear, Yellow Plum, Yellow Pear, Yellow Cherry, and Yellow Peach.

For deeper soils there is the patio hybrid, bred for small home gardens, patio and balcony tubs, a plant 24 to 30 ins. high with two to three-inch fruits.

To go with tomatoes we need lettuce, of which the soft leaved type not only need little space but contain more nutrients than the large white heads. The Bibb, Butterheads, and Oak-leaf are in this category.

Long carrots are impossible to grow in shallow soils. They also need wider spacing between plants and rows than is practical in a miniature vegetable garden. Fortunately there are small types usually ignored by home gardeners who pride themselves on growing the largest of everything.

Baby Fingers is one, while Amsterdam Forcing is a fine short, stumpy carrot of good width. Rarely seen is Planet, shaped like a beet root with deep orange flesh, grown for whole-pack jars.

Miniature beets are a useful vegetable of which both roots and greens are nutritious. Early Red Ball and Little Egypt are both good for a small space.

Where there is room the smaller types of spinach can be grown and even some dwarf peas around 18 to 24 ins. tall. Radish seed can be scattered over small area before rows of other vegetables are made. It is a 24-day crop which will be cleared before the other crop needs the space. Catch cropping is the secret of miniature gardening.

These miniatures are prominently listed in seed catalogues now because of the increase in balcony, door-yard and patio gardens across the continent.

It is not too late to start, and with the succession sowings we can make in this climate right up to mid-August and some in mid-September, an amazing amount can be harvested from a 3 ft by 6 ft. plot.

Here is another thought. Why not a miniature garden of miniature vegetables for the miniature gardeners of school age? At least it would be something their own size.

Mass Marriage Rites Wed 10,000 Children

NEW DELHI (Reuter) — More than 10,000 children, many of them infants, have been married in annual mass ceremonies throughout the west Indian desert state of Rajasthan.

Although child marriage is banned in India, the old custom persists, particularly in Rajasthan, where mass marriages take place each year on an auspicious day known as Akha Teej.

On this day alone, Hindus are permitted to perform marriage rites without the supervision of a holy man, who is paid for the function, so poor peasants are able to save money.

Brightly dressed women and children were taken to the marriage ceremonies in long lines of bullock carts. Many of the smaller children slept through the marriage ceremonies oblivious of the fact that they had acquired a spouse.

Somoza Regains City of Leon

MANAGUA (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza's army regained control of the northern city of Leon on Monday after a 24-hour battle with 100 Sandinista guerrillas. The Red Cross reported many dead and wounded in the streets.

It was the second major attack in April by the Sandinista Liberation Front, which led an unsuccessful, two-week uprising against Somoza last fall. The leftist guerrillas seized the northern city of Esteli on April 5 and held it for nine days.

There had been sporadic skirmishes between the Sandinistas and the national guard, Nicaragua's army, for the past six weeks in Leon, 105 kilometres north of Managua. One resident said the guard opened a drive to clear the guerrillas from the city after an ambush late Sunday of seven guardsmen in reprisal for the killing of five men who ignored orders to tear down Sandinista placards in a cemetery.

Persons in Leon said the guard used a tank, armored personnel carriers and at least one rocket-firing plane against the Sandinista force of about 100 men.

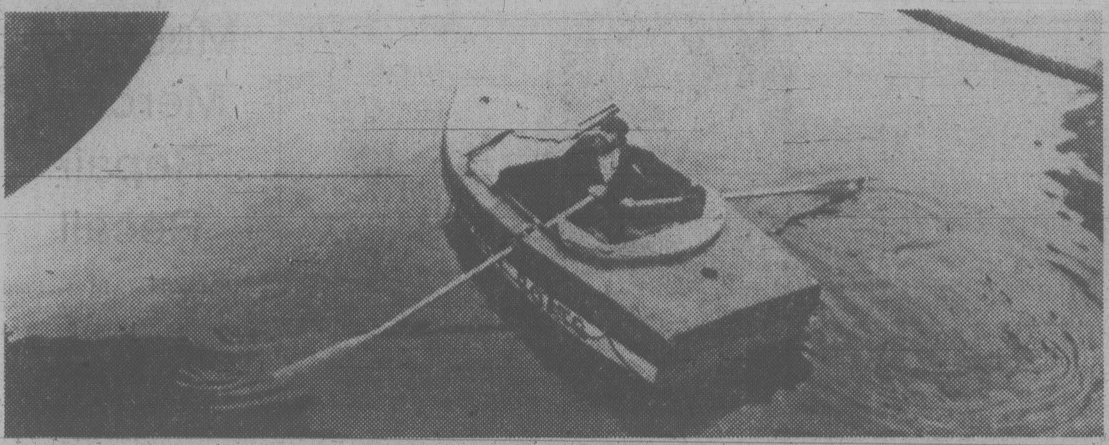
The fighting died down before dawn Monday, then raged up again during the day and spread from downtown to suburban areas. Residents said the firing tapered off during the afternoon, and the city was quiet but tense.

"It was a fierce firefight," Rodolfo Abausa Salinas, the editor of the Leon newspaper, reported by telephone. "The rebels and the guardsmen used heavy weapons. The city looks like it's in a state of war."

"The dead and wounded in the streets are numerous, but we have no figures because we haven't had time to count them," said the local Red Cross director, Pedro Bustillo.

Another Red Cross official estimated at least 100 persons were killed.

In Managua, meanwhile, the government rounded up anti-Somoza political lader Alfonso Robelo Callejas and at least 40 labor leaders in an attempt to prevent a banned anti-Somoza May Day march and rally today.



CROSSING "POND" will be no mean feat for Kenneth Kerr, 27, a Scot showing leaving St. John's, Nfld., today to row to Ireland in a 13-foot-long boat. A modified version of an Orkney spinner, the boat is loaded with about a half ton of supplies and the gear includes a spare set of oars and a radio with a range of 5,500 miles. Kerr former head of radar and electronic warfare on the Royal Navy submarine Conqueror, estimated the trip would take about 80 days. The trip is sponsored by a British brewing firm.

Uganda Plans New Army To Replace Tanzanians

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Uganda today announced plans for a new army to replace its Tanzanian allies, who are now marching northward to rescue hundreds of foreign missionaries at the mercy of roving bands of Idi Amin's troops.

President Youssef Lule also announced in an address to the nation that Uganda's much-abused police force would be rebuilt.

Lule said that to avoid the tribalism that marked the Amin years, recruits for the new army would be drawn from all sections of country and be limited to youths with a good education.

Special preference, the president said, would be given to the "liberation forces" — the Ugandan guerrillas who helped the Tanzanian army topple Amin in a six-month war.

As Lule made his announcement, a mainly Tanzanian column marched toward Amin's hometown region of Arua in northern Uganda, where Amin loyalists have been stockpiling supplies and loot over the last two months.

Another Tanzanian column seized the main Israeli-built Nakasangola airbase 80 miles north of Kampala.

Tanzanian forces early Monday captured Uganda's southeast corner on the border with Kenya with virtually no resistance, clearing the way for a resumption of major road and rail routes to the outside world.

The move gave them control of nearly four-fifths of the nation and left only the extreme northwestern corner remaining to be pacified.

Hundreds of civilians already have been reported murdered by Amin's retreating soldiers in the northwest and there were widespread fears for an estimated 700 European and American missionaries still unaccounted for in the area.

The reopening of the road to the Kenyan border meant that trucks and trains can carry vital supplies into the country for the first time in three months.

Workers Celebrate May Day

Associated Press

Soviet television avoided closeups of ailing Leonid Brezhnev at May Day festivities in Moscow today as his Chinese rivals called for belt-tightening, Moslem revolutionaries celebrated their victory in Iran and other workers marched on their international holiday.

Wearing a hat and topcoat, the Soviet president and other politburo leaders mounted the Lenin Mausoleum in Red Square. The Soviet leader waved to the crowd as the traditional parade began under leaden skies after an early-morning rain.

Soviet television, which broadcast the parade live, did not zoom in on Brezhnev going up the steps of the mausoleum as it usually does. The 72-year-old Soviet leader has had difficulty walking in recent appearances and an aide usually is nearby to help him.

During last week's meeting with President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France, Brezhnev was less vigorous and alert than usual.

Red Square and the rest of Moscow were heavily decorated for May Day. Major avenues were decked out in lights as well as red hammer-and-sickle flags atop street lamps.

Peking also was aglow Monday night with red lanterns and strands of electric lights, but for the second year in a row no government-sponsored May Day festivities were planned for economy reasons.

"An important task now facing the Chinese working people is to launch a nationwide movement to increase production and practise economy," the Peking People's Daily said.

The newspaper said it is essential to build new factories and mines in order to modernize, "but we must rely mainly on the existing enterprises, improving and transforming them."

The Tanzanian national workers' organization, Juwata, also called for austerity, saying May Day will be a normal working day because Tanzanians need to rebuild their economy following the costly war against Ugandan dictator Idi Amin.

In Tehran, hundreds of thousands of jubilant May Day marchers paraded through the city, waved portraits of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and praised the February revolution that ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. Armed revolutionary militiamen, riding motorcycles, maintained order.

In Japan, the call was for higher wages and more social-welfare benefits as 5.5 million workers held May Day rallies in more than 1,000 cities around the country.

In Ankara, martial law authorities arrested 500 youths and warned residents of the Turkish capital to avoid May Day rallies. Security forces in Istanbul banned a rally scheduled by DISK, Turkey's second-largest and most-radical labor federation.

Paper Cuts Edition

LONDON (AP) — The Evening News announced it will terminate its Saturday edition, reduce daily editions to four from seven and eliminate more than 500 of 2,200 jobs in a cost-cutting move. It said labor unions have agreed to the cuts. The newspaper's annual losses are running at $14 million.

London Times Finally Out

LONDON (AP) — The Times of London said Monday night it has managed to publish a European edition despite a blockade by West German leftists of a Frankfurt printing plant where where the newspaper was to have been printed.

A spokesman for The Times, which suspended publication in Britain five months ago in a dispute with mechanical staff over the introduction of new technology, refused to say where its first European edition was printed — except that it was "overseas."

The spokesman said several thousand copies were produced and will appear in Europe and the United States but not in Britain.

He added that plans to print a second European edition next week now have been scrapped but that "we have not abandoned the idea of an international edition of The Times in the near future."

Because of the dispute with some of its British labor union staff in London, The Times contracted to have a weekly European edition printed in Frankfurt by non-union labor at a printing plant owned by a Turkish company.

Evening of Delight By Festival Dancers

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Times Staff

The first evening of the second week in the Greater Victoria Music Festival provided something for the memory book.

Three centres had evening sessions scheduled, but one of the festival's major events, the dance honors performance took the spotlight, deservedly drawing a sell-out crowd to McPherson Playhouse.

It was a two-hour program that ran the gamut all the way from enchanting to wonderful and back; a representative evening that shone a bright light on the prolific talent and the admirable nature of the training available in Victoria.

Although the program was only put together after the close of competition, Friday, it ran with professional smoothness under the direction of Velda Scobie and with the co-operation of the McPherson stage technical staff.

Chosen for this honors program were soloists and groups representing the best work in the studio dance sessions. Represented also were the Highland and Irish dance sessions.

The program sparkled with originality. Much of the work was highly imaginative: the Sherry Black Dancers' Victorian Family, which had charm, warmth and humor; Pacific Dance Centre's Madeline with Maureen Eastick's choreography taking the French tale of the Sister, the school crocodile and the unpredictable Madeline and weaving it into a joyous and graceful ballet with two most promising dancers — Kim Tuson and Kirsten Olson as the soloists.

Dramatic instinct and an excellent use of mime showed up frequently: Nancy Blundell and Pia Wyatt in TheQuarrel, choreographed by Wynne Shaw, and Eugenie Ngai and Jennifer Straith in Wendy Marlow's Peter Pan and Wendy, are two duos that were effectively graphic.

A moving interpretive piece was The Warm Land. Based on a Cowichan Indian legend, it was expressively danced by a trio from the Pacific Dance Theatre. The sensitive choreography was by Janet Andreae Mislin. Two brilliant little tap dancers created something of a sensation. They were Jodi Sing, winner of the tap solo for eight-year-olds and under, from the Royal Oak Studio, and Megan Smethurst from the same studio who had won tap solo for 11-year-olds and under.

Then there was of course, classical ballet. Lovely tutu-clad budding ballerinas of all sizes, from Avril Johns' charming group of 11-year-olds and under to Pacific Dance Centre's evanescent rainbow of 17s and under, and accomplished soloist en pointe, Jennifer Sanders.

Song and dance ensembles made a change of pace; Bebe Eversfield's Take Me Out to the Ball Game, was a humorous concept well carried out, and Sherry Black's small dancers in It's a Small World were a lovable international group.

A Sean Truibhas was performed by Highland and Scottish national bursary winners and a jig by the Susan Roche Irish Dancers.

Several awards were presented following the performance. The Highland and Scottish bursaries went to Kathy West, Trudean Noble, Michele Spilsbury, Kathleen Monk and Jennifer Lindsay. Two promising dance awards were made to out-of-town students Denese Golding of Maple Ridge and Tami Sinosich of Nanaimo.

Three special merit awards were presented to Louise McCorquodale,Deanna Moody,and Leah Cromack.Kirsten Olson received the jazz award and Nicole Black thetap award.

A new trophy for an outstanding tap performance will be shared this year by Megan Smethurst and Jodi Sing. Another trophy, given by Wynne Shaw together with a tuition scholarship, will also be shared. The joint winners were Leah Cromack and Kim Tuson.

Jacqueline Dancey received the classical ballet award for a dancer showing promise and the Erith Smith Memorial Award was presented to Jennifer Sanders.

Both a dramatic dancer and a comedian, Kim Tuson was the recipient of the Kathleen McCreesh award for most versatile dancer.

Slick Solution Proposed

A Victoria man who developed a way of successfully fighting oil spills has sent a telegram to the harbormaster in Brest, France, outlining his method of controlling slicks which damage sea life.

Frank Bedford of the Bedford Attack System Ltd., blows woodchips onto the slick. This absorbs the oil. It is then set on fire.

Without the chips, the oil residue after it is burned sinks to the ocean floor and causes extensive damage to sea life.

If it's too stormy to blow chips on the slick, Bedford blows hog fuel onto the beaches which mixes with the oil. This is also set on fire.

"We tested the system out with the assistance of the navy," he said.

Broadbent Lavish with Farm Goodie Vows

ELECTION 79

REGINA (CP) — Ed Broadbent went hard after the farm vote Monday during a visit to Saskatchewan in the campaign for the May 22 federal election.

In Regina he proposed re-introducing milk-product and milling grain subsidies killed by the Liberal government last year and in Yorkton he said he would force the railways to provide rail cars to carry grain to market.

All of this followed condemnation in Toronto of a Progressive Conservative television advertisement being shown in Quebec that depicts Prime Minister Trudeau as a criminal for failing to keep consumer prices at what are considered an acceptable level.

"I think it (the ad) can backfire," he told radio interviewer Betty Kennedy.

"Whatever they think of him (Trudeau), he's not a criminal."

But it was here he hit his stride, saying on a television program a New Democratic government led by him would bring back subsidies paid farmers — five cents a quart on fluid milk, 34 cents a pound on powdered skim milk enough to give millers $3.25 a bushel for milling wheat regardless of the world price — the same subsidies that were allowed to perish by the Liberals.

He told reporters after the program that when the subsidies were removed, prices for the products rose beyond the amount of the subsidy, citing fluid milk that jumped eight cents a quart or more.

He said the cost of resuming the subsidies would be about $180 million, about $10 million more than when the program was dropped, but added:

"Without question, the first concern of every family across Canada right now is the constant rise in prices."

In February, Statistics Canada established the inflation rate at 9.2 per cent over January and 19 per cent on an annual basis.

Then in Yorkton, he told about 600 partisan listeners he would make the railways provide cars to transport their wheat to ports for export.

He said he would use existing law to make it work, saying:

"The farmers have been taking the risks and the railways have been taking it easy."

Broadbent said farmers lost between $450 million and $600 million last year because they were unable to get their grain to ports for international sales.

Maggie Wants Hubby To Lose

NEW YORK (CP) — Margaret Trudeau says that as a wife and mother, she hopes Prime Minister Trudeau loses the May 22 election. As a Canadian, though, she wants him to win.

In a television interview Monday, her third appearance on a major American talk show within a week, the estranged wife of the prime minister described herself as ambivalent over the election.

"For our country, I'd like him to win," she said. "I think he's the only choice. He's a very strong leader, a very conscientious leader . . . I think he's the one who can keep our country together.

"For our little boys, I'd like him to lose."

Mrs. Trudeau said losing the election would give Trudeau more time to spend with their three sons, Justin, Sascha and Michel.

It would also be important for her, she said.

"I think he's going to need me an awful lot more if he loses the election. I'm sure that I'm going to feel, for the first time in the seven or eight years that we've been together, I'm going to feel a bit indispensable. I've never felt needed."

Mrs. Trudeau appeared on the Phil Donahue Show, a syndicated interview program, to promote her book, Beyond Reason.

One woman in the audience noted that Mrs. Trudeau had complained that her husband did not give her enough attention. "What about the attention your children are missing?"

Mrs. Trudeau said she felt badly about leaving the children but that before she left her home, she was cranky and unfair to them. Now, she was happier and visiting them regularly.

"The children have never felt like they've lost mommy," she said. "In fact, I think they feel like they've gained mommy."

Mrs. Trudeau indicated she has still not decided what to do with her life. At 30, she said, she still has "many dreams."

Jewish Votes Bought?

By PETER HADEKEL
FP News Service

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Trudeau Monday tried to paint Joe Clark's promise to move the Canadian embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem as a major political blunder.

In a news conference at Ottawa Airport, Trudeau reiterated that Clark's recent promise "is a blatant attempt at vote-buying."

Trudeau said that only four months ago Clark was on record as opposing moving the Canadian embassy to Jerusalem.

The issue has turned into a Liberal-Tory tug-of-war for the votes of Jewish Canadians. The Israeli government has been trying to encourage countries to switch their embassies to Jerusalem to reinforce Israel's position that the ancient capital of Palestine will once again be the capital of the Jewish nation.

Candidates Differ On Nuclear Plants

Tory, Liberal and NDP federal candidates took different positions on nuclear power at an all-candidates meeting for Victoria and Esquimalt-Saanich federal constituencies Monday night.

The candidates, however, all opposed the concept of right-to-work legislation at the meeting sponsored by Victoria Local of the Telecommunications Workers Union.

Victoria Liberal candidate Bob Monaghan conceded there may be a need for nuclear power sometime in the future but said he wants to be satisfied safety requirements would be met.

Both Allen McKinnon and Donald Munro, the former Conservative incumbents in Victoria and Esquimalt-Saanich ridings, said the issue is one for the provinces to determine for themselves.

The NDP candidates, Gretchen Brewin for Victoria and Robert Cameron for Esquimalt-Saanich, were solidly opposed to nuclear power generators in B.C.

Liberal Esquimalt-Saanich candidate, Alan Peterson, was absent from the meeting.

The candidates were polled on behalf of the union on several issues, including right-to-work, which Cameron described as union-busting.

The candidates were divided on the question of capital punishment.

It was supported by the Conservatives and partially supported by the NDP for certain offenders.

Monaghan reserved judgment until knowing the views of constituents and McKinnon agreed with his leader to honor a private member's bill if it should be successful.

ELECTION 79

Dogs, Ladies among Hazards

YORKTON, Sask. (CP) — Vicious dogs and naked ladies are just two of the hazards of campaigning for political office, Lorne Nystrom, New Democratic MP for Yorkton-Melville since 1968, told about 600 local party members Monday.

Supporting another candidate in a 1977 byelection, Nystrom was bitten by a dog and ended up in hospital.

Last week, while knocking on doors in his riding, he was invited inside by a young woman who mistook him for her husband. Emerging naked from the shower, the woman screamed when she saw the strange man in her hall and Nystrom told the audience here he "felt about as awkward as (Progressive Conservative Leader) Joe Clark looks."

He declined to say what happened after the woman screamed.

Chretien Asks Liberals To Restrain Promises

Chretien. . . deficit too high

ANCASTER, Ont. (CP) — Finance Minister Jean Chretien says he is urging Liberal candidates not to make expensive campaign promises because the country's deficit is too high.

"I have pressed my colleagues not to make any expensive promises because we have to be steady on the (economic) rudder," he told a group of businessmen Monday at a luncheon in this community near Hamilton.

"Talk is cheap. But with a $12-billion deficit you can't afford those kind of promises."

The minister said the Liberals' few proposed changes will not pose a financial burden on the present budget.

When Mayor Joe Bennett in nearby Dundas later asked Chretien to help small municipalities with increasing public transportation costs, Chretien replied: "I'm having a little trouble with my deficit too, sir."

Clark Taunts NDP, 'PM's Farm Team'

SYDNEY, N.S. (UPC) — The New Democratic Party would "huff and puff and prop up" a Liberal government, says Conservative leader Joe Clark in a sharp attack on the New Democrats.

Clark, calling the NDP a "farm team" of Prime Minister Trudeau's Liberals, says Broadbent would perform for a Trudeau minority in 1979 as his predecessor, then-party leader David Lewis, did in 1972.

In a rousing speech to an overflow crowd of more than 750 supporters Monday, Clark said, "The NDP will huff and puff and prop up Pierre Elliott Trudeau."

Clark drew great bursts of laughter from the crowd. He went on saying, "Well, there's one way to throw out Pierre Elliott Trudeau — elect a majority Progressive Conservative government on the 22nd of May."

Earlier in the day, Clark attacked the prime minister saying, "I prefer not to drag him out, I prefer to throw him out" out of office.

The Tory leader, while fending off hecklers at the Sydney meeting, said he was "counting" on the NDP to keep the prime minister in office.

"Mr. Broadbent is heading around the country attacking me," Clark said.

"With good reason," a heckler shouted. Clark responded: "I knew there was one heckler in the crowd — are you it?"

The heckler then yelled: "More promises." Clark shot back: "Are you another heckler, or did you just lower your voice?"

In his speech, Clark reiterated a Tory promise to introduce corporate tax contracts to allow investors greater writeoffs. Clark said a Tory government would also pay closer attention to regional development. Citing a $70 million grant to the large Sydney Steel Co., Clark said he would "make that investment pay off for Canada."

In a television interview in Digby, Clark said the Conservatives also offer Quebecers a fresh option to Trudeau and Quebec's pro-independent Parti Quebecois government.

"My target is not Rene Levesque," he said.

"My target is the people who vote for Rene Levesque and my assumption is that the great majority of those are people who would prefer to stay in Canada but they must be given some fresh reasons, some new reasons for staying in Canada," he said.

Also in Digby, Clark told demonstrating members of the Federation of Francophones outside Quebec that a Tory government would try to persuade the provincial governments to protect minority language rights.

The small group of about a half dozen, which has been touring Canada in a motor home, carried placards reading "Practise your French with me today — tomorrow may be too late" and "Clark has abandoned us to the provinces."

Clark's campaign was forced to skip a planned stop in Yarmouth because of dense fog that closed the airport. He was to fly to Toronto today for his fifth swing through vote-rich southern Ontario.

120 Vie For 28 Seats

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 120 people who want to spend some time in Ottawa have been nominated to contest the 28 British Columbia seats available in the May 22 federal election.

The three major parties — Liberal, Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party — have candidates in all 28 ridings and it is unlikely that any minor-party candidates will gain sufficient support for a spot in the House of Commons.

The Progressive Conservatives expect to win the bulk of the seats as they did in the 1974 election when they took 13 of 23. The Liberals won eight and the NDP two. Redistribution has added five seats.

Had the new boundaries been in effect in 1974, the PCs would have taken 19 of the 28 seats, the Liberals seven and the NDP two.

Some interesting battles are in sight, particularly in Skeena, held by Iona Campagnolo, minister of fitness and amateur sport.

Mrs. Campagnolo upset Frank Howard in the formerly NDP stronghold in 1974, but is said to be a tough fight this time. A combination of high unemployment and inflation, poor transportation and a revitalized NDP could spell trouble for Mrs. Campagnolo.

She sees New Democrat Jim Fulton as her chief competition. Rod Cousins, running as a Progressive Conservative, also considers Fulton his main rival.

today's markets

Toronto

The Toronto stock market rose sharply in active mid-afternoon trading today.

A trading halt continued in shares of Abacus Cities Ltd. and Imperial General Properties Ltd. pending an announcement. Abacus Cities last traded at $1.40 a share and Imperial General at $16.

Trading resumed at noon in shares of Q. M. G. Holdings Ltd. after a halt called Monday. The company said it has deferred $2 million in public financing intended for use in drilling three prospects in Texas. The stock fell 15 cents to 75 cents.

The Toronto Stock Exchange said subdivided common shares of Amax Inc. will be posted for trading at a par value of $1.00 at the opening Friday, replacing the currently listed shares. The board of directors passed a resolution on April 5 which had the effect of subdividing the company's common shares on a three-for-two basis.

The exchange also said new common shares of Interprovincial Pipe Line Ltd. will be posted for trading with a par value of $1.00 at the opening on Monday, May 7, replacing the currently listed A and B shares.

New York

The stock market staged a small rally today, reversing the lower trend of the past three sessions.

The Federal Reserve Board's actions in the money markets Monday tended to confirm analysts' presumption that they decided late last week to push interest rates a bit higher.

But brokers voiced the belief that no extreme credit-tightening was in the offing.

LTV rose ⅜ to $9⅜ in active trading. The company posted a first-quarter profit of $40.5 million against a loss in the like period last year.

Montreal

Prices gained considerably in moderate noontime trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today.

London

The London stock market fell sharply near the close of moderate trading today. The Financial Times index of 30 industrials closed at 537.0, off 14.3. Dealers said the market was reacting to opinion polls which give the Labor party a narrow lead over the Conservatives in the national election campaign.

Oils, banks and industrials weakened while golds were mixed.

CHRYSLER CANADA LTD.

Donald H. Lander C. O. Hurly

The board of directors of Chrysler Canada Ltd. announces the election of Donald H. Lander as president and chief executive officer of the company, succeeding C. O. Hurly who has been elected chairman of the board. Mr. Lander, who joined Chrysler Canada Ltd. in 1959 was most recently group vice president—international and president, Chrysler International S.A. Mr. Hurly, whose service with Chrysler Canada Ltd. spans 43 years, has been an officer and director of the company since 1956. He was named president in 1975. Both Mr. Lander and Mr. Hurly continue as vice presidents of Chrysler Corporation.

VANCOUVER

Prices were up in moderately-active trading today on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Volume to 11:11 a.m. was 1,544,521 shares.

Austin Investment led trading in the industrials, remaining unchanged at .90 on 5,000. Proflex was unchanged at .11 on 4,000, Canadian Javelin remained steady at $1.67 on 3,448 and Ardiem Industries was unchanged at .17 on 3,000.
